UNCHALLENGED U. S. TASK FORCE DESTROYS 28 JAP SHIPS, CRIPPLES 18, BAGS 160 PLANES

GREETED IN BURMA—Lieutenant E. R. Fluitt, of Detroit, Mich., liaison pilot who ferries wounded from the lines to base hospitals in Burma, is greeted upon his return by three Kachin natives, who carry his rifle, an umbrella to shield him from the sun, and native weapons.

Battleship Torpedoed In Smash at Carolines, Near Philippine Isles

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, April 7. (AP)—Unchallenged by the Japanese fleet, strong American aircraft carrier task forces wreaked havoc for three days less than 600 miles from the Philippines, sinking 28 enemy ships, damaging 18, bagging 160 to 214 planes and spreading destruction over the Palau islands and adjacent bases, it was disclosed today.

The hosts of American warships, operating more than 4,500 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, emerged unscathed and only 25 of the hundreds of attacking carrier planes were lost. Eighteen fliers perished.

Failing as at Truk and in the Marianas in February task force assaults to draw out Nippon's navy, Admiral Raymond A. Spruance's fleet had to be contented with two destroyers and "one unidentified combat ship" among the vessels sunk. The remainder largely were cargo ships and oilers.

But a big Japanese battleship was spotted the night of March 28, just before the three-day fleet operation opened, fleeing the Palau region in the western Carolines. The intercepting submarine rammed home a torpedo which caused "considerable damage." The battlewagon, however, limped away.

"There was no damage to our surface ships," today's communique said. The Japanese radio had claimed two cruisers sunk, a battleship and at least two aircraft carriers damaged.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, in breaking a protective radio silence of more than a week, disclosed that the Palaus, known as Japan's Singapore, bore the brunt of the attack of carrier planes but that Yap, Ulithi and Woleai also were hit in operations extending through March 29, 30 and 31.

At Palau on the first two days 25 ships were sunk. The other three enemy ships definitely sunk were small ones which fell victim to ships' gunfire at sea.

All 18 ships damaged, including the battleship, were in the Palau sector, 530 miles east of the Philippines.

The bulk of the planes were encountered over the Palaus, where 93 were shot out of the sky, 29 others probably were downed, 39 wiped out on the ground and 20 others probably.

The Palaus were hit March 29 and 30, Jap and Ulithi March 30 and Woleai, about midway between Palau and Truk, on March 31.

The boxscore at Palau:

Sunk: Two destroyers, one unidentified combat ship, two large cargo ships, six medium cargo vessels, eight small cargo vessels, three large oilers, one medium oiler, on small oiler, one patrol vessel.

Damaged: One destroyer.

Beached and burning: One large repair ship, one medium oiler, two small oilers, one small cargo ship.

Burning: Two small cargo vessels.

Beached and damaged: One large cargo ship, two medium cargo vessels, five small cargo vessels.

Beached: One small cargo vessel.

The following ground installations were destroyed at Palau:

Forty buildings at Arakabuesan, just west of the main island; four hangars and small buildings at the seaplane base, more than 20 warehouses at Malakal harbor near Arakabuesan. Docks were extensively damaged and fires started.

At Korer, Japanese administrative center of all the mandated territories, warehouses, dumps and hangars were destroyed.

At Angaur, a small island at the southern tip of the cluster around Palau, the phosphate plant, docks, storage buildings were damaged.

At Yap island, which in 1921 was the subject of bitter controversy between the United States and Japan over the control of the cable and other communications, airdrome facilities and buildings in the settlement were damaged.

At Ulithi the radio station and docks were damaged and several small vessels sunk. Ulithi, 100 miles east of Yap, is the largest atoll of the Western Carolines.

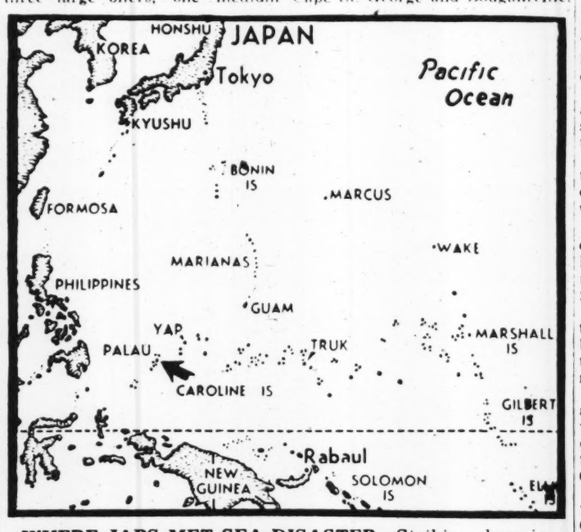

At Woleai, midway between Truk and Palau, seven Japanese planes were destroyed and probably five more.

A Navy spokesman described the task striking force as the most powerful ever to operate in the Central Pacific.

7,000-Ton Jap Ship, Tanker Set Afire

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Saturday, April 8.—(AP)—A 7,000-ton enemy merchant vessel was set afire near Wewak, on the New Guinea coast, and an oil tanker was set ablaze by attacking U. S. forces near Timor, in the Dutch East Indies, General Douglas MacArthur's communique said today.

Other targets were Hollandia, Cape St. George and Bougainville.

WHERE JAPS MET SEA DISASTER—Striking deep in Jap-infested waters 530 miles from the Philippines, the most powerful U. S. task force ever mustered in the Central Pacific bombarded Palau, Yap (see arrow) and Woleai islands, destroying 28 Jap ships and damaging 18.

BRITISH SEAMEN RESCUED—Three British seamen are about to be rescued as a boat crew from a Coast Guard cutter pulls alongside the cutter. The seamen were on a merchant vessel that was torpedoed by a German submarine in the North Atlantic. One of the trio, his head swathed in bandages, sits between the other two.

Russians Slash 6 Nazi Divisions In New Snare

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—The Red army has sprung still another trap on the remnants of five or six German divisions, perhaps 25,000 to 50,000 men, northwest of Odessa, and in a swift investment of the prize Black sea port has captured Novaya-Dafinovka, only 10 miles to the northeast, Moscow announced tonight.

Rolling through 60 towns and villages in a semi-circle around the big port the Russians also seized Karlstal, 17 miles northwest of Odessa, putting the Red army only 15 miles from the Odessa-Ovidiopol railway—the last German land escape route to Rumania.

Belayevka, 23 miles west of Odessa on the marshes above the Dniester river estuary, also fell to the attacking Russians who were at that point only 20 miles north of the ferry terminus of Ovidiopol and smashing ahead in an effort to bottle up thousands of Germans and Rumanians inside Odessa.

The latest Russian trap was created north of Razdelnaya, 40 miles northwest of Odessa, by units which had cut the last major rail escape route into Rumania at Razdelnaya.

5,000 GERMANS SLAIN

Moscow's bulletin said more than 5,000 of the encircled Germans already had been killed and more than 1,000 captured in two days' fighting, and the remainder were "being wiped out." Sixty-four guns and 24 tanks also were seized in that area, said the broadcast communique recorded by the Soviet monitor.

In the other trap area west of Skala, in the southwestern corner of the Ukraine, the Russians again repulsed German attempts to break out to the west, killing 4,000 enemy troops during Thursday alone and capturing 1,400 trucks, five Junkers-52 transport planes which the enemy had been using to rescue German officers, 17 guns, and seven tanks, Moscow said.

The remnants of 15 German divisions are surrounded in the Skala sector, which is just above the middle Dniester river.

ENEMY ATTACKS BEATEN

Southwest of Tarnopol in former Poland the Russian first army troops also beat down attacks by large forces of enemy infantry and tanks "which tried to break through to aid the encircled grouping" at Tarnopol, the bulletin said.

Tarnopol's German garrison has been surrounded since March 26, and in violent street fighting the Russians have captured most of the town.

In Bessarabia the Russian second army in a two-day flight toppled the district center of Orhei (Ordeyev), only 20 miles north of Kishinev, provincial capital, the communique said, terming the captured city "an important strongpoint in German defenses at the approaches to Kishinev."

Moscow again was silent for the fourth day about the Rumanian front where the Russians last were reported within eight miles of Iasi, an important Rumanian rail center.

The latest Russian trap area apparently was between Razdelnaya and Vesely-Kut, 18 miles to the north. Moscow spoke of "a considerable group of German troops"

100 Churches To Hold Special Easter Services

Choirs and choral groups of a hundred or more Atlanta churches tomorrow will join voices in proclaiming "Christ Is Risen" as religious throngs celebrate the most holy day on the Christian calendar, Easter morning.

In many churches pageants will mark the holy day while in others, movies depicting scenes in the Holy Land will be shown and all day singing services will mark Easter in other churches.

An interdenominational service at Grant Field tomorrow morning at 7 a. m. is expected to draw between 15,000 and 25,000 worshipers to hear the singing of children from both city and county schools and messages by ministers representing various faiths.

DR. MIDDLETON TO TALK

Dr. James W. Middleton, pastor of the First Baptist church, will deliver the sermon on "Intimations of Immortality," and the invocation will be delivered by Dr. Lester Rumble, of St. Mark Methodist church. Dr. Thomas Anderson, of the Central Congregational church, will read the scripture; Dr. Vernon S. Broyles of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, will conduct the prayer, and Dr. C. F. Schwab, of Decatur Christian church, will read the benediction.

St. Mark Methodist will hold one of the day's outstanding series of services, when duplicate programs are presented at 8:30 a. m. and 11 a. m. Baptizing of a group of children will feature the sunrise service at this church, while the Easter cantata, "Olivet to Calvary," will be sung by the full choir at the 7:30 p. m. worship. Men and women of the armed services are invited to attend "open house" at this church from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m. A special program of entertainment is scheduled for their enjoyment.

Jury Acquits Defendants in Dailey Case

DeKalb County Police Chief Joseph T. Dailey and three policemen on his staff were acquitted by a federal court jury here of charges of violating the civil liberties of Naomi Reid and Raymond Rosser, Negroes arrested in DeKalb county last October.

Roy T. Smith, foreman of the jury, returned the verdict of acquittal to the court after three hours of deliberation by the jury on testimony and evidence presented in the case during three days of trial.

CHARGES

Chief Dailey, together with Lieutenant Ben Hensler and Patrolmen Charles L. Visscher and Jefferson Cove Holbrook, Jr., were charged in informations filed by District Attorney M. Neil Andrews with beating and maltreating the two Negroes to obtain their confession to burglarizing the Ritz supper club last October.

The case went to the jury shortly before noon yesterday after arguments by defense counsel and District Attorney Andrews. Andrews told the jury in the argument that he was not finished in this case but would continue to prosecute violators of civil rights statutes.

COURT'S INSTRUCTIONS

Judge E. Marvin Underwood instructed the jury to consider only the charges against the officers of beating and maltreating prisoners to obtain confessions and withdrew from their consideration any charges as to the officers having denied prisoners right to consult with counsel.

The information against Chief Dailey, Patrolmen Holbrook and Visscher charging they beat Rosser, also charged they denied the Negroes the right to consult with their counsel, William Schley Howard, Atlanta attorney, who testified in the case.

District Attorney Andrews was assisted in the case by Raymond W. Martin, assistant United States attorney.

The officers were represented by Attorneys Clint Hager, J. Frank Kemp, Young Fraser and Paul Carpenter.

Japs in India Rip Heart Of Allied Defense Zone

Change in Tactics Seen As Italian Battle Limps

NAPLES, April 7.—(AP)—Ground action in Italy subsided to a virtual standstill today after German patrol stabs at the Fifth Army's beachhead positions about a mile and a half south of Carroceto were thrown back with what were believed to be heavy casualties to the enemy.

A sudden night thrust by several patrols at the Allied positions in this sector was covered by heavy mortar fire and coincided with a minor German attack on Fifth Army positions two miles south of Guardiagrele.

Allied losses were reported light in the Carroceto skirmishes, with Allied gunners helping to break up the attack by silencing one German mortar which had been throwing shells into the Allied positions from a Wadi and starting a fire in another enemy gun position.

PROBING TOWARD ALLIES

On the mountainous central front, where Italian troops still hold the heights of Mount Marrone and Castel Nuovo, there were artillery exchanges and active patrolling as the Germans continued their probing toward the Allied lines.

Enemy forces holed up in the ruins of the Continental hotel inside Cassino made a tentative thrust outside the building but their infantry was engaged immediately and forced back by Allied artillery.

This virtual cessation of ground activity is seen as the opening of a new phase in the Italian campaign in which the Allies apparently have decided upon a course of hammering steadily at German supply lines with massed air power while Allied ground forces apply constant pressure on the enemy's defenses.

MASTER OF GROUND

The Germans have proved their mastery of the ground situation by holding firmly to central Italy despite the heavy attacks of the past three months, but they now face a new test—whether they can maintain their front in the face of a systematic destruction of their life lines.

With good flying weather now here and the Allies' air fleets at greater strength than ever before, the air chieftains hope to keep on pounding at the enemy's communications with such intensity that he will be compelled to pull back for lack of supplies.

There are signs already of German shortages at the front.

ZAGREB RAIDED

The Allies' growing Mediterranean air power was emphasized anew yesterday when Flying Fortresses and Liberators struck at the Balkans again, blasting at a German airfield in the Croatian capital of Zagreb while medium bombers were raging wide over Italy and striking at targets both northwest and west of Rome.

Returning crewmen said Zagreb was vigorously defended by some 120 German planes, but the heavy bombers and their fighter escorts shot down 16 of them to the loss of three bombers.

In all, 28 enemy planes were shot down during the day's operations to the loss of 10 Allied craft.

U. S. Tax Load Won't Increase, George Says

The bewildered taxpayer will find that his income tax will not creep higher each year during the war.

That is the belief of Senator George, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who took a few breaths of air at the Atlanta Terminal station yesterday before he continued to his home in Vienna for a long-deserved rest.

"Income taxes are substantially as high as they will go," Georgia's senior senator said, "at least while the war in Europe continues."

The present revenue received through taxes pays for 50 per cent of the cost of war, he added.

WORKED ON TAX BILL

"Recently, I have been working on the tax bill, although no legislation is pending. The work is merely simplifying the tax laws for the individual."

Speaking further on the income tax, the senator said revenue may be raised with new methods of taxation—but the methods have not been discussed.

The senator emphasized that his arrival here had no political thought behind it. He made no comment about his opponent for the coming senate race, John W. Goolsby, of Washington, Ga.

"I don't think I'll have much time for campaigning this year," George continued. "At the present time, I have no campaign plans."

NEGRO VOTE RULING

When asked his opinion of the recent supreme court ruling in Texas, permitting the Negro to vote in primaries, George answered he had had no chance to read the decision in full.

"No, there was no Democratic political activity in Washington when I left," he added. "Supposed candidates for vice president have been rumored, but the Democrats haven't been very active, politically."

"The fourth term?" the senator smiled. "I have too many worries already, so I haven't thought much about it."

"I haven't seen the President in about a month," he said. "Since then, he has had that bronchial trouble. He has been receiving callers at the White House for the past week, however."

PARTY TO DRAW CLOSER

Senator George agreed that the Democratic party would draw closer as election time nears, and added that Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic executive committee, seemed to be doing his job in a business-like way.

The inevitable question—when will the war end?—was asked.

"I can't say," he replied. "Prog-

Enemy 6 Miles From Imphal, Tokyo Claims

NEW DELHI, April 7.—(AP)—Japanese invasion troops in India have driven westward across the Imphal-Kohima highway in the heart of the Allied defense zone and are being hotly engaged in the jungles 35 miles east of the Bengal-Assam railway, American-operated supply lifeline for Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell's forces in northern Burma, it was announced today.

A Berlin broadcast of Tokyo dispatches declared that Japanese troops were "menacing" the railroad from an unstated distance, and said confidently that when it was cut the collapse of the Allied campaign in north Burma would "become inevitable." A Japanese news agency dispatch recorded by Reuters said Japanese troops were within six miles of Imphal from the east.

JAP ROAD BLOCKS

It had been known since Sunday that the invaders had installed road blocks on the 60-mile Imphal-Kohima road, completely isolating the big Allied base at Imphal except by air, but today's communique from Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters gave the first indication that this enemy column had pressed on westward.

The vital Allied railway line at which the entire Japanese invasion is aimed primarily is only about 35 miles from the Imphal-Kohima highway at one point. There was no additional news of Japanese forces which several days ago were reported pressing through the Naga hills north of Kohima toward the railroad.

British and Indian troops defending Imphal itself against Japanese formations pressing in from the east and south at the edge of the Maninur plain threw back several small enemy attacks yesterday, Mountbatten's communique announced. The 17th Indian division, withdrawing up the road from Tiddim to aid in the defense of Imphal, was reported intact with 80 to 90 per cent of its transport saved.

FIGHTING WITHDRAWAL

Making a fighting withdrawal into besieged Imphal along with the crack Indian division are 70 members of an American field service ambulance unit that has been serving with the British in the Tiddim area. A second unit of 50 men is withdrawing under intense fire from the Tamu area

Weather To Allow Easter Parade: Warmer, Cloudy

Miss Atlanta may wear her newest Easter bonnet and dress without fear of rain or a cold snap that will make that old winter coat covering her new finery necessary, according to the prediction of the Weather Bureau.

Leading up to Easter, today will be warmer, the Atlanta Weather Bureau forecasters have said, and the clouds that gather over the city will not spill rain. Neither did the bureau officials see much chance of a return of the cold snap that harmed tender plants and first crops in several sections of the state.

The high reading for today is expected to be 72 degrees, the same as yesterday, when the low temperature was 41 degrees.

Manpower Chiefs Urge 4-F's To Forestall Draft of Labor

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt and Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey joined tonight in asking 4-F's who are not already so employed to seek jobs in essential activities or those designated by the WMC as "locally needed."

A similar separate appeal also was made by Chairman Costello, Democrat, California, of a house military subcommittee, who said he had "no desire to establish some sort of labor conscription." This group has been considering legislation for a draft of 4-F's into a work corps if they do not voluntarily take essential employment. Costello made clear this idea has not been abandoned.

As the appeals to 4-F's went out, men of draft age were divided by new selective service regulations into three age groups, and local boards were instructed to go easier on those in the 30 to 38 bracket.

McNutt and Hershey urged all 4-F's who are in doubt about their employment to consult their local U. S. Employment Service office. They estimated that over 2,000,000 of the 3,600,000 4-F's are already in essentially or locally needed work.

The announcement said the present essential list, including 35 general fields of activity important to the war effort, is to be used in determining which 4-F's will be considered to be in essential work.

General Hershey has said that the others—those not working or those in nonessential jobs who refuse to get essential jobs—will be inducted and forced to work in some activity that will help win the war.

The Costello committee expressed belief in a statement that manpower needs could be met "on a purely voluntary basis provided we receive the co-operation of every patriotic citizen within the nation."

It reminded 4-F's that when they were called

Yank Mustang Pilot Claims Rickenbacker Record Bested

A. U. S. FIGHTER BASE IN ENGLAND, April 7.—(AP)—Captain Don S. Gentile, 23-year-old Mustang pilot from Piqua, Ohio, today claimed 27 enemy planes destroyed—one more than the American record established by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker in the first World War and equaled by two Marine fliers in this war.

Gentile is the first American pilot in this theater to equal the record, and perhaps the first in any theater of war to exceed it. His mother is "awfully glad, but so worried," hasn't seen him in three years. His father operates a night club. Only available records here show Marine Majors Joe Foss, of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, of Okanogan, Wash., equaled Rickenbacker's record of 26 in the Pacific. Boyington is now missing

DeGaulle Recognition Delayed, FDR Indicates

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asserted today that the principle of self-determination is the core of American policy toward France and, by implication, he ruled out any preinvasion recognition of the French Committee of National Liberation.

Mr. Roosevelt's position has been stated formally to the British with whom there must be agreement on the orders to be issued by the combined chiefs of staff of General Eisenhower before the invasion of western Europe. As yet, the British have made no reply.

Today's discussion of the French question by the chief executive was his first since he announced March 17 that he had arrived at a decision. It coincided with an announcement in London that Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius has arrived there for conversations with the British foreign office. Stettinius may seek to clarify the American position to the British and, if necessary, urge an early decision for joint action through the combined chiefs of staff.

FRENCH HANDS TIED

Pending the issuance of orders by this top military board, French officers assigned by the committee to Eisenhower's headquarters are not officially able to co-operate in preparations for ruling liberated areas of France.

Mr. Roosevelt touched on these other diplomatic questions:

Italian—The armistice terms imposed on Italy remain primarily of military importance and the President said he did not believe their disclosure could be expected soon. Elsewhere it was learned that the Allied advisory council for Italy will take up this week the question of reconstituting the Badoglio government, an action dependent upon retirement of King Vittorio Emanuele which is already being arranged. Anti-Fascist political parties have been unwilling to go into the government as long as the King remains.

Balkan—The President said it was true that Prince Barbu Stirbey, of Rumania, is in Cairo but that no peace proposals have come to Washington as a result of Stirbey's activities.

FOREIGN POLICY

Foreign policy—The chief executive has gone over a rough draft of part of Secretary Hull's speech on American foreign policy, to be made Sunday over CBS at 5:30 p. m. (Atlanta time). Hull still is working on the speech which may contain significant disclosures on such current foreign policies as the French and Italian questions and tightening up on European neutrals to prevent their cooperating with Germany.

The French question was raised at the President's news conference when a reporter asked for comment on recognition of the French National Committee which is headed by General Charles de Gaulle at Algiers.

Mr. Roosevelt responded by saying that the real question is, what is self-determination? How do we know, he continued, how the people of France feel?

"BY THE PEOPLE"

No one within his hearing, the President said, has lately been in France and if anyone had his knowledge would be limited because of the limited area which he would have been able to travel. Under those circumstances, Mr. Roosevelt said, would you let the determination of government be made by people who are not in France?

It is understood that the United States is strongly opposed to recognizing the French committee as a government for metropolitan France until after the committee has a chance to prove that it can raise invading armies into France, have of win the support of the people and actually do the governing. The British, on the other hand, have been ready to accept the committee's claim that it already has the support of the people of France.

Giraud-Shelving Move Succeeding

ALGIERS, April 7.—(AP)—General Charles de Gaulle, in a new move against the position and authority of General Henri Giraud, may succeed in putting the French commander on the shelf as "inspector general of the armies," it was reported reliably today in high French military circles.

Discussions between the two camps still are continuing but reliable informants on both sides express belief that Giraud would accept, as a patriotic duty, this new role with decreased powers and prestige. A decision is expected in a day or so.

In no event will Giraud continue his present title and functions as commander in chief of French land, sea and air forces, and unless he accepts the new position, Giraud will step out completely, these same informants said. Neither camp expects a resignation.

Dr. R. C. S. Young Made Assistant to Hammack

Dr. R. C. S. Young, former assistant director of the Department of Public Welfare, has been appointed assistant director of corrections in charge of prisoner welfare work, it was announced by F. R. Hammack, director of corrections. He will take office April 17.

Dr. Young will be responsible for prisoner welfare and classification work, which includes program development and general administrative supervision of prisoner care and treatment.

JEWISH SCAPEGOATS

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—The Germans' puppet Hungarian government has decreed the immediate discharge of 50 per cent of Hungary's Jewish workers and ordered "a certain number" of Jew-owned flats made available to bomb victims, German dispatches heard by United States monitors said today. The government earlier ordered Jews to wear distinctive signs and refrain from using public transportation.

Office-Holding Course Provided For Georgia

ATHENS, April 7.—(AP)—Public office holding is coming in as a subject for some higher education under a new program to be established at the Universities of Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee.

The program, as announced by President Harmon W. Caldwell, of the University of Georgia, will include 10 graduate fellowships to be estabilshed in June at the three universities, with the General Education Board of New York supplying $750 and fees for each fellowship.

Graduates of any four-year college will be eligible for a year's training, although preference will be given southern school students.

Upon completing the course, students may receive a certificate in public administration or work toward a master's degree.

"All of us at the University," said President Caldwell, "have felt that Georgia and other southern states have needed such a program for a long time."

The regional idea was adopted because "many problems are regional in character and can be dealt with most effectively through a regional approach."

Photographer Sparks Dies

Walter C. Sparks, for many years an Atlanta news photographer, died yesterday in a private hospital. He lived at 112 Mansfield avenue, N. E.

Funeral services will be at 1 p. m. today at the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes, with Dr. Wallace Rogers and Morgan Blake officiating. Burial will be in Norcross.

Surviving are two sisters, Miss Hattie Sparks and Mrs. Paul Robertson, of Atlanta, and two aunts, Mrs. R. S. Adair, of Dournie, Texas, and Mrs. M. S. Adair, of Sycamore.

A native of Norcross, Sparks came to Atlanta as a young photographer, operating a studio here. He also worked as a newsreel photographer for the old Kinogram film firm before going into newspaper work. He was formerly on the staff of the old Atlanta Georgian a short time, switching to the Journal in 1918. Since 1940 he had been with International News Service and the Little Studio.

Acknowledged one of the best feature cameramen in the country, Sparks roamed the state constantly, snapping Georgia people and scenes that were often reproduced in other newspapers and national magazines.

George Calls for Action On Cancelled War Pacts

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The senate's special Postwar Committee called today for legislation "at the earliest possible moment" to cover the settlement of claims arising from terminated war contracts.

Other problems for demobilization may be put aside for the present, said a report from the committee headed by Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, but termination legislation is needed now "in view of the speed with which contracts are being terminated."

The report suggested several changes in the contract termination bill introduced by George and Senator Murray, Democrat, Montana, in February.

Primary responsibility would be centered in a director of contract settlement within the Office of War Mobilization.

"WITH HIS USUAL CALM COURAGE"—The courage he displayed in a bomber over Sicily stood Captain William H. Morton (right) in good stead in Hurt Memorial park yesterday when he was besieged by admirers at ceremonies following presentation of the Distinguished Flying Cross. Here he is being congratulated by Colonel R. W. Propst (left), who presented the cross, and Lieutenant Colonel Douglas A. Graham (center).

'Just Mail It,' Air Hero Says—Finally Comes Here To Get DFC

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

Uncle Sam had a silver cross for Bill Morton.

It was one of those chunky, dull silver things attached to a ribbon—and a piece of paper that came with it said it was for "extraordinary achievement" in some bombings over Sicily and North Africa, also for "courage, skill and sense of responsibility in the face of great danger."

Bill was busy testing Army aircraft in Memphis and they wrote and asked him if he wanted to come to Atlanta to get his cross or if they should bring it to Memphis.

"Just mail it," said Bill Morton—and went on with his flying.

ARMY PERSISTS

The Army persisted and yesterday blue-eyed, sun-burned Captain William H. Morton marched between two fellow officers across the smooth green grass of Hurt Memorial Park and stood smartly at attention while Lieutenant Colonel Douglas A. Graham read a citation and Colonel R. W. Propst pinned on his tunic the Distinguished Flying Cross.

A company of officers from the headquarters of the Southeastern Procurement District of the AAF Materiel Command at 86 Edgewood avenue, formed a background for the ceremonies and a score or so of spectators from neighboring office buildings looked on. Many of them were armed with cameras and took picture after picture of the presentation party, rushing up afterwards to shake the hand of the tall, broad-shouldered young hero.

"They really treat returning heroes like returning heroes, don't they?" a companion asked.

"JUST LIKE MOVIES"

"Just like the movies," grinned Captain Morton, blushing lightly under his sunburn.

Twenty-nine years old and unmarried, the Owensboro, Ky., flyer was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for the specific achievement of leading a formation of 36 bombers over Messina, Sicily, on July 14, 1943. Flying a B-25 which he named "Kentucky Ridge Runner," Captain Morton led his formation over the target behind a B-17 group.

The antiaircraft fire had become so accurate and so intense as to hinder vision, according to the citation signed by Brigadier General E. P. Curtis and issued by command of Lieutenant General Spaatz.

"USUAL CALM COURAGE"

"With his usual calm courage, however," the citation went on, Captain Morton "led the straight and level bomb run necessary for precision bombing. The accurate timing and expertly conceived evasive action under Captain Morton's skillful leadership enabled this formation to bring the full impact of a well executed and coordinated attack to bear upon this heavily defended target resulting in great damage to the enemy. Such courage, skill and sense of responsibility in the face of great danger reflect credit upon Captain Morton and the military service of the United States."

That raid was one of 50 in which the young Kentuckian participated before he was sent back to Memphis to test planes for McDonnell Aircraft. All that he professes to remember about it is that he was scared before he went up but "didn't think about it any more" after he got in the air because things "got pretty hot then."

"They knocked a couple of holes in the ship," he said, "but nobody was hit. I've never been wounded."

The officer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Morton, of Owensboro, Ky. He received his training at Cimmaron, Okla.

Missing Son Sought By Father at Rome

ROME, Ga., April 7.—B. D. Duvall, a farmer near here on the Kingston road, has appealed to local police and Floyd county officers in an effort to find his 15-year-old son, "Bill" Duvall, who left home on February 16.

The father describes the boy as being about 5½ feet tall; weight 130 to 140 pounds, stockily built, with brown hair and brown eyes, and with a swathy freckled complexion.

Duvall requests that any one having information concerning the youth get in touch with Rome Chief of Police Wood Quarles or Floyd County Sheriff M. E. Horton.

The boy is also a farmer and the father thinks maybe he may be found doing farm work.

Huge Tomato Shipments Seen in South Georgia

MOULTRIE, Ga., April 7.—(AP) Plans for shipping 750 million tomato plants from south Georgia this year were outlined here by Luke Outler, agent for the Railway Express Company, who said that his company hoped to move 1,500 carloads of plants from south Georgia in 1944.

The shipments would represent 200 carloads more than were moved in 1943, Outler said. Back from Jacksonville, Fla., where he conferred with officials of his company relative to the coming shipping season, Outler asserted that "the only thing we can promise the growers is to do the best we can in furnishing cars and arranging schedules."

Major shipping points are Moultrie, Valdosta, Cairo, Omega, Tifton and Albany, Outler said.

Swiss Envoy Asks Hull For Explanation of Raid

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Charles Bruggman, Swiss minister here, today presented Secretary of State Hull oral representations over the accidental American bombing of the Swiss city of Schaffhausen.

The Swiss minister asked an explanation of the bombing, requested that measures be taken to prevent recurrence of such incidents, and accepted Hull's promise that the United States would indemnify the Swiss government and Swiss citizens for the accident.

Price, Wage Controls Must Stay, FDR Told

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Organized labor's drive to break down the "Little Steel" formula bumped headon today into a flat pronouncement by top White House economic advisers that wage and price control policies must be continued unchanged.

With indirect indorsement by approving comment, President Roosevelt made public at his news conference a report to him that the stabilization program has succeeded to the benefit of all elements of the population. Price rises have been checked, it said, and the cost of living is actually lower now than it was a year ago, while wages whave been stabilized.

"We must not jeopardize these gains by any change of policy or relaxation of effort in the critical months ahead," the report concluded. . . . "The need for continued restraint and continued cooperation with every phase of the stabilization program is evident. Obviously, too, we should cling to the policies and machinery which have served us so effectively thus far."

IN LETTER FORM

The report was in the form of a letter to the President from Fred M. Vinson, economic stabilization director; Chester Bowles, price administrator; Marvin Jones, war food administrator, and Chairman William H. Davis, of the War Labor Board. It noted that tomorrow is the first anniversary of the date the President issued his "hold-the-line" order on wages and prices.

Both the AFL and the CIO are asking in current War Labor Board hearings for relaxation of the "Little Steel" formula limiting general wage increases to 15 per cent above the January, 1941, level.

"Could this be interpreted as an answer to attempts to shatter the Little Steel formula?" Mr. Roosevelt was asked.

It doesn't answer anything, it's a statement of fact, he replied.

In making public the report, the President said it was of real importance and worth everyone's reading. It is of real importance, he added, because it concerns a matter which has been overlooked for the last two or three months although there have been two or three bouts on the subject in the past.

FDR COMMENTS

He went on by reading the report and offering occasional comments. When he came to the statement that there has been no change of consequence in the cost of living for the past year, he remarked that he knew a lot of people would call that nonsense. The trouble is, he added, that the figure is made up nationally.

"This record—one year of stable living costs—is unprecedented in this war or in the last war," the report said, and Mr. Roosevelt added: Or any other war in history.

The President also interpolated that he was naming no names when he read the statement that a year ago "prophets of disaster freely predicted an inflationary rout."

"The stronger stabilization measures now in effect have succeeded because they have had the support of the American people," the report went on. "Throughout this period, to be sure, voices have been raised against one part or another of the program and even against the entire policy. Those voices have become fewer and have been heard less frequently. Today, on the first anniversary, the 'hold-the-line' policy stands approved by the overwhelming mass of the American people."

Realtymen See Building Boom

By PRESS HUDDLESTON.

Three national real estate leaders, whose institutes are a part of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, in Atlanta yesterday to address a gathering of licensed real estate brokers and salesmen, all agreed that the building of homes, apartments and commercial structures will receive a great impetus in postwar America, and that high wage and price levels will be maintained for many years to come.

The gathering was sponsored by the Georgia Real Estate Commission.

Here to speak at the Ansley hotel, for a morning and afternoon session were Joseph Laronge, Cleveland, president of the Brokers' Institute; Burrows Johnson, New Orleans, president of the Appraisers' Institute, and Charles F. Curry, Kansas City, president of the Management Institute.

"A tremendous number of homes in the $6,000 to $7,500 class will be built as quickly as possible after the ending of the war, and it is clear that there will be a big demand for more apartment houses and for more commercial buildings to house new stores and shops of all kinds. In fact, we are expecting the increase in building after the war to be the greatest this country has ever known." Such was the opinion of all three national representatives.

Speaking of the housing situation, Mr. Curry stated that there was bound to be a considerable readjustment along that line. "I feel," he said, "that private firms are much more capable of handling housing than government bureaus are, and it is necessary to our proper economic readjustment that all these permanent war housing units be turned over to private concerns. The temporary structures must be destroyed, as the government has already agreed to do."

During the afternoon the sessions, with the national visitors, were given over to questions and answers and a general discussion of real estate problems of the day.

The Georgia Real Estate Commission, composed of John O. Chiles, chairman; T. A. Waters and Josiah Flournoy, was in charge of the Atlanta session.

The Atlanta Real Estate Board was host to the institute presidents at a luncheon at the Ansley at 1 p. m. and the guest speaker was Captain D. G. Payzant, officer in charge of the Marine detachment at Georgia Tech.

Induction Wheels Skid, Thanks to Barbara and FDR

The good old American custom of "writing Washington" when the way the government is running things doesn't suit you, worked like a charm for a nine-year-old Atlanta lass.

Barbara Montrose, 1439 Belmont avenue, S. W., addressed her complaint to the head man himself—President Roosevelt—when it became apparent that her daddy's selective service board wasn't going to let him be home for her little sister's birthday and Easter.

"Dear President Roosevelt," Barbara wrote. "I am a nine-year-old and I have a little sister five, and a little brother seven. My little sister will be six years old on Easter Sunday. My daddy has to go to the Navy April 6. I asked him why he couldn't stay until after Easter. He told me I would have to ask President Roosevelt. So I am asking you.

"We love you,

"BARBARA MONTROSE."

State selective service headquarters gave Barbara her answer yesterday. President Roosevelt had forwarded her letter to them and they had moved her father's induction date from April 6 to April 10.

"We hope you will have a very happy Easter and your sister a very happy birthday," the selective service headquarters wrote.

Orderly Evacuation Of Budapest Planned

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—The Ankara radio said today that the evacuation of Budapest is being organized with lists of the parts of the city to be cleared already published and railway tickets distributed to the inhabitants.

American bombers based in Italy hit that Hungarian capital for their first time Monday in a heavy blow, quickly followed up that night by an assault from the RAF.

CHARLES L. BURKE DIES

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Charles H. Burke, 82, former commissioner of Indian affairs and one-time congressman from South Dakota, died today after a lingering illness.

PERCY S. STRAUS
Business Leader Dies

Percy Straus, 67, Succumbs

Percy Selden Straus, 67, chairman of the board of R. H. Macy & Company, Inc., with which Davison-Paxon Company is affiliated, died late Thursday night at his home in New York after a brief illness. Straus suffered a heart ailment a few years ago and had since limited his business and civic activities.

He had an intense interest in Atlanta and Georgia, since his grandfather, Lazarus Straus, and parents, Isidor and Ida Blun Straus, lived for many years in Talbotton and Columbus, Ga., after coming to this country from Rhenish, Bavaria.

Born in New York city in 1876, he attended Dr. Sach's Collegiate Institute and was graduated from Harvard in 1897, where he was active in undergraduate activities.

He followed his oldest brother, Jesse, into the business of R. H. Macy & Company, which had been acquired by his father and uncles, Oscar and Nathan, in 1888. After a year, he became secretary to his Uncle Oscar, minister to Turkey at the time, but returned to Macy's after eight months.

At the turn of the century, Macy's—which embraces, in addition to Davison's, L. Bamberger & Company, of Newark, N. J.; the LaSalle & Koche Company, of Toledo, Ohio, and Radio Station WOR—opened a new store at Herald Square, largely the work of Percy Straus.

Straus and his two brothers, Jesse and Herbert, took over the direction of the business upon the death of their parents in the Titanic disaster in 1912. In 1919, when the store's organization was changed from a partnership to a corporation, Percy became vice president, and in 1933, succeeded his brother Jesse as president, when the former was appointed ambassador to France. Following a heart attack suffered in 1939, he was elected chairman of the board and was succeeded as president by his nephew, Jack I. Straus.

In addition to his business leadership, Straus served on many governing boards of New York organizations, and was a contributor to several educational centers.

In 1924, he and his brothers endowed in Harvard's Graduate School of Business Administration, the Isidor Straus Professorship of Business History, and contributed to the erection of Straus Hall, a dormitory in memory of their father. He made a gift of $1,000,000 to New York University, and served as a member of its council, chairman of the Council Committee on Fine Arts, and chairman of the university planning committee.

He also served as a director of the New York Life Insurance Company, trustee of the New York Public Library, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of New York, director of the Regional Plan Association and a trustee of the Institute for Advanced Study. In 1928, he was vice chairman of the Democratic national finance committee, and was one of a small group responsible for the New York World's Fair. He was also founder and director of the American Retail Federation.

His memberships included Council on Foreign Relations, Harvard Clubs of Boston and New York, Metropolitan Club of Washington and the Westchester Country Club.

Straus is survived by his wife, the former Edith Abraham, of Brooklyn; three sons, Ralph I., a major in the Army overseas; Percy Jr., a lawyer of Houston, Texas, and Ensign Donald Straus, of the U. S. Navy, and two sisters, Mrs. Sara Straus Hess and Mrs. Vivian Straus Dixon, of New York.

Funeral services will be held in New York at Temple Emanuel at a date to be announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Straus have visited Atlanta several times in the past and have many friends here. Among the prominent Atlantans they have visited are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson Jr., former Governor and Mrs. John Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Maddox Sr., Mr. and Mrs. John K. Ottley Sr., Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard Candler, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Alston, Mrs. William Healey Sr., Mrs. Eugene Black Sr. and Mrs. Clark Howell Senior.

'Big Losses Tommyrot,' Invasion Chief Assures

WITH AN AMERICAN INFANTRY DIVISION SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, April 7.—(AP)—Lieutenant Omar N. Bradley told American officers preparing for the invasion of Europe today that "this stuff about tremendous losses is tommyrot."

"The success of the whole war depends on this operation and I have no fear of its outcome," the commander of American ground forces in the United Kingdom assured officers who will lead the doughboys into action.

"When the time comes you will be surprised by the naval gunfire and airpower we have.

"Some of you won't come back, but it will be very few.

TUNISIAN LOSS LOW

"In the Tunisian campaign we lost only an average of three or four men to 1,000 and certainly seeing a show like this ought to be worth that chance.

"They say Barnum & Bailey had the greatest show on earth, but that will be only a sideshow compared to the one you will be in. When your men get up to fight you will be scared, but it will be up to you to get up and lead your men in attack.

"Put your men in the right frame of mind. You can't surrender in warfare. Fight it out to the last ammunitions. The enemy might be as bad off as you are. It is much better to do that than to be made prisoner.

"I have heard rumors that 90 per cent of us wouldn't come back," he continued.

ALLIED EQUIPMENT BEST

"That is tommyrot. I think you are lucky to have this opportunity and I am happy to be with you. We have the best soldiers and best equipment and more of it than the Germans ever dreamed of. After a few days of it you won't have anything to worry about."

He urged them not to "condemn your men too quickly if they show fear in the early stages" but to "exert your leadership and lead them forward."

Warning that "the German will play dirty," Bradley said: "I know of cases where he has booby-trapped the dead. Don't trust him very far. Sometimes they will come out waving white flags and then open fire on you."

FIGHTER ACE—Captain Don S. Gentile, of Piqua, Ohio, a Mustang pilot, yesterday claimed 27 enemy planes downed in combat—one more than the American record. He is stationed in Great Britain.

Chiropractors Hear Dr. Janse

If you are the sedentary type and suddenly decide to take up exercise, don't do anything too strenuous at first or you may have your sacroiliac to answer to.

That was the warning issued yesterday by Dr. Joseph Janse, dean of the National College of Chiropractic, Chicago, Ill., here for the All-Southern States Chiropractic Convention at the Biltmore hotel.

The sacroiliac, according to an explanation by Dr. Janse, dean of the largest chiropractic school in the country, is the all-important connecting link between the wedge-shaped bone on which your spine rests and your hip bone.

If you've been a radio hugger all your life and suddenly initiate yourself into the athletic sphere by a five-mile walk or a fast game of tennis, this undue strain may cause misalignment, resulting in nerve pressure, and then you'll be the pitiable victim of an inflamed sacroiliac.

Sometimes, Dr. Janse also warned, improper posture over a number of years may cause an uprising of your sacroiliac.

In a strong defense of the chiropractic profession, Dr. Janse cited government figures for 1942, showing 20,000 chiropractors with a clientele of over 60,000,000 and an annual income of $160,000,000.

"Medicine based on pills is becoming obsolete," continued Dr. Janse, "new physiology with the help of physics has taught us new ways to deal with the human body along mechanical lines that were never dreamed of a decade ago."

The three-day convention will be brought to a close today with a round-table discussion featuring Dr. Janse, Dr. Waldo G. Poehner, outstanding X-ray technician, and Dr. E. A. Thompson, vice president of the National Chiropractic Association.

Girl's Hunger Strike Ends; Relatives Sought

The three-day hunger strike of the girl believed to be Beatrice Davis has ended. According to Grady hospital attendants, she took food and water last night for the first time since Tuesday. Suffering from hysteria, the girl was picked up near Lawrenceville.

Efforts to identify the girl had proved fruitless until yesterday when she revealed the name of relatives living in Oklahoma. Authorities are attempting to communicate with them.

Negro Dentist Increase Urged

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 6.—(AP) Dr. J. H. Steagall, president of the Georgia Dental Association, announced today he would recommend at the association's annual meeting next month that scientific sessions be opened to Negro dentists.

Georgia, with a Negro population of about 1,800,000, has only 53 licensed Negro dentists, Dr. Stegall declared, adding:

"More Negro dentists are urgently needed. The white dentists should encourage more Negroes to study dentistry."

Dr. Stegall said he did not propose opening association membership to Negroes but believed their attendance at scientific clinics would "undoubtedly result in raising the standards" of the Negro practioners.

Negroes Register In Brunswick

BRUNSWICK, Ga., April 7.—(AP) A possible test of party regulations barring Negroes from voting in the Georgia Democratic primary was seen today in the registration of 30 Negro youths as voters.

Accompanied by a school teacher, the teen-age school students visited the county tax office yesterday and signed the registration list. The office reported a number of other Negroes had registered and paid back poll taxes during the week, following the decision by the United States supreme court Monday that Negroes may vote in the Texas Democratic primary.

Legislation to give teen-age youths the ballot was approved by the Georgia legislature over a year ago.

Georgia will nominate a United States senator and 10 congressmen in the Democratic primary on July 4. J. Lon Duckworth, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, said a few days ago that the supreme court ruling in the Texas case would have no effect in this state and that Negroes would still be ineligible to vote in a Democratic primary.

Nomination in the Democratic primary is equivalent to election in Georgia and in most other southern states.

Following the ruling of the high court in the Texas case, C. A. Scott, Georgia chairman of the public affairs committee of the Association for Advancement of Colored People, declared in Atlanta that he and other Negroes would attempt to vote in the July 4 Democratic primary.

Other Georgia cities reported little Negro interest in registering. Reports from other southern states also indicated little increase in interest by Negroes in qualifying as voters. Many Negroes register to vote in general elections and they now cast ballots in primaries in Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina.

The number of Negroes registered for the general election in Georgia was placed at around 25,000 by A. T. Walden, legal adviser for the Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Atlanta. Walden, in making the estimate, said he had not yet made up his mind whether he would attempt to vote in the state Democratic primary.

In Florida, Attorney General Tom Watson ruled on March 16 that only white persons would be permitted to register as Democrats. Thirty-two Negroes had registered in Leon county (Tallahassee) before books closed last Monday—19 as Democrats and 1 3as Republicans. A number of Negroes have registered as Democrats in that state in the past but have never asked for the right to vote in the primaries.

Negro voters in South Carolina are planning federal court action to seek the right to vote in the Democratic primary. N. J. Hinton, of Columbia, secretary of the Negro Citizens' Committee, said the court action would be taken soon.

Alabama, Louisiana and Tennessee reported normal registration so far. In Louisiana registration books closed 30 days before the general election on April 18 for ratification of Democratic nominees selected in winter primaries.

Stettinius in England For Vital War Sessions

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—U. S. Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. arrived today for a series of important sessions with British officials which are expected to pave the way for another "big three" conference, and he told interviewers that the Axis' " last desperate hope" of dividing the Allies by creating suspicion and distrust had failed signally.

Stettinius declared that "the United Nations will not relinquish the co-operation and unity which has brought up already so far along the road to victory."

The enemy now has learned "what mighty blows we can strike when our men, our weapons and our leadership are combined in a common cause," he said.

The suave, white-haired undersecretary came with a small, expert staff so constituted it could collect background information for President Roosevelt's use in the event of another conference with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

Speculation that Stettinius is serving as an advance agent for Mr. Roosevelt was supported by the description in some quarters of the coming meetings as broad and exploratory, and by the general opinion the undersecretary is not carrying the authority to make basic decisions.

Supporting these contentions is the fact Stettinius' arrival came at a time of mounting criticism and uncertainty in commons and congress over British-America foreign policy and the degree of co-operation between London and Washington and with Moscow.

Dacula Flame Probe Started

The Georgia Bureau of Investigation and local authorities are conducting an investigation into the burning yesterday of two consolidated school buildings at Dacula, Ga., near Lawrenceville, following reports of a loud explosion just before the fire was discovered about 3 a. m. by a passing truck driver.

Dacula School Superintendent W. H. Knight said George Lee Turner, who lives about 300 yards from the schools, and Lee Freeman, who lives about a mile away, reported hearing the explosion.

Knight added: "Bricks from the walls of the school were hurled to feet and crushed to powder."

INCENDIARY ORIGIN

Expressing belief the fire was of incendiary origin, Knight said he knew of nothing on the school premises that might cause such an explosion as that described, and said he believed some sort of explosive must have been planted in the school. However, he added he knew of no person or persons who might wish harm to the school.

Sheriff W. H. Hutchins, of Lawrenceville, aiding in investigation of the blaze, stated no evidence of an explosive had yet been uncovered but that he would continue his investigation.

He said that other recent fires destroying schools in near-by towns seemed to him to be "too much of a coincidence."

$50,000 LOSS

Sheriff Hutchins named burning of schools at Lawrenceville, Duluth and Norcross within the last few months as cases he had in mind.

The fire at Dacula caused a loss of $50,000, according to Knight, who added $2,000 in insurance was carried on the school. He said fires were kept burning in stoves in the schools Thursday for heating purposes, but that he did not believe the stoves accounted for the explosion.

Apparently starting in the high school building of the consolidated schools, the fire spread to the nearby primary school, destroying all equipment in both buildings. The vocational training school, a stone building about 75 yards from the high school, was not damaged.

The high school, containing seven rooms and an office, was constructed in 1930, while the primary school, built in 1910, contained eight rooms.

ress is being made daily, but no one can make predictions when the war will end, either in Europe or in the Pacific."

The senator and his wife were driven to their home.

"I'll be there about a week," he explained. "For a couple of days I plan to fish, and rest, and attend to personal affairs."

NO DRAFT SLOWUP

He said the Senate Committee on Postwar Planning was actively at work and had introduced several bills concerning termination of war contracts and settlements and adjustments connected with closing of war plants.

He foresaw no lessening of armed service drafting until Germany is out of the war.

Senator Thomas, Democrat, Utah, he said, probably will succeed Senator Reynolds, Democrat, North Carolina, as chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, although it is not now definite.

Russell in Atlanta To Get Tires Recapped

Senator Russell, Georgia's junior senator, was in Atlanta yesterday on purely personal business—to have his tires recapped. He drove over from his home in Winder, Ga., where he is spending the Easter holidays.

Russell said he would return to Washington Monday to continue his fight for the provision of hot lunches for school children, and predicted that the senate would pass such an appropriation. Upon his return, he will meet with a subcommittee of the Committee on Agriculture.

The senator added that the rumored Roosevelt-Willkie ticket didn't make much sense to him, and would not guess at a candidate for the vice presidency, though a fourth term for Roosevelt seems to be indicated.

for military service and rejected, their places in the fighting forces were taken by someone else.

"The least that such a disqualified person can do is to make sure that the one who is fighting in his stead is supplied with all the necessities for carrying on the fight," it added.

The 6,400 local boards got their latest instructions on job deferments in a memorandum sent by Hershey.

Although dependency as a test for deferment has long since ceased to job essentiality and age, the boards were told that prewar fathers 26 and over, in cases where all other factors are equal, will normally be accorded job deferments in preference to nonfathers.

CAUTION

They also cautioned against the impression that men in their thirties were to be almost "immune" from the draft. Such an impression is completely false and misleading, they said. The older a man is in his thirties is, the greater the chance for a job deferment, provided his job is important to the war effort. Age alone will not keep him in civilian clothes.

The three age brackets and how draft boards will consider them:

18 Through 25—Whether fathers or not, these men get no job deferments unless they are induced as key men by a state draft director or unless they are in farming, Merchant Marine or Army Transport Corps.

26 Through 29—Job deferments for "necessary men" in war production or in support of the war effort.

30 And Over—The necessary men requirement will be applied more strictly with the increased age of the registrant.

ESSENTIAL ACTIVITIES

Following is the latest version of the list of essential activities in which M. Nutt and Hershey urged 4-Fs to seek employment:

Production of aircraft and parts; production of ships, boats and parts; production of ordnance and accessories; production of ammunition; agriculture and commercial fishing.

Processing of food; forestry; logging; lumbering and forest industries; construction; coal mining; metal mining.

southeast of Imphal. Nine ambulances had reached Imphal at latest report, but at least 16 other vehicles were cut off and believed lost.

A Berlin broadcast of Tokyo dispatches said five powerful Japanese columns were closing in on Imphal and that the defenders were rushing in reinforcements from Calcutt and elsewhere, presumably by air. "However, there's little chance of success for the enemy in the face of the surging advance of Japanese forces," the broadcast asserted.

ALLIED BOMBERS ACTIVE

While the Japanese were inching through the jungles of Assam in their mounting threat to the Allied rail lifeline, American heavy bombers and fighters struck new railroad supply lines between Thailand and Burma.

Going in at between 300 and 600 feet, the planes destroyed three bridges and badly damaged five others, wrecked four locomotives and many freight cars, tore up long sections of track and set fire to railway buildings and equipment, a communique said. It was the second attack within a month on the line which carries the bulk of supplies for Japanese forces fighting in Burma and India.

Tank-supported British troops on the Arakan front captured the second of two stoutly defended tunnels on the Maungdaw-Buthedaung railway on the lower Burma front and gained toward the central ridge of the Mayu mountains.

In northern Burma, Stillwell's Chinese forces were attacking the Japanese-held villages of Wakawng, between Shaduzup and Kamang, and Burmese troops fighting for the Allies were reported within 45 miles of Myitkyina, the main Japanese base in that area.

A FEATHER IN HIS CAP

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, April 7.—(AP)—A full-blooded American Indian, Lieutenant Hiawatha Mohawk, of Hattiesburg, Miss., was credited officially today with shooting down one of 11 German planes destroyed by Thunderbolt fighters which escorted U. S. heavy bombers in a raid on the Zagreb airport yesterday.

The choir and organ will be featured at the 7 a. m. sunrise service in "Hallelujah Chorus," "Welcome Happy Morning," "The Strife Is O'er, the Battle Done" and "Jesus Lives." The 11 a. m. prayer and sermon hour will be featured by still another group of Easter hymns and carols.

Joseph Ragan is organist and choir director.

The choir of the Ormewood Park Presbyterian church will present an Easter musical vesper service at 5 p. m.

Tax Expert Watson Cites Efficient Georgia Setup

George H. Watson, tax expert who is in Atlanta studying Georgia's tax structure, said that state governments should put their houses in order financially before postwar problems arise, and commended the efficiency of tax administration in Georgia.

Watson said that in his opinion, Georgia's tax administration under Revenue Commissioner J. Eugene Cook "is not lagging behind other states, but is well in the forefront."

"I am particularly gratified to learn of the appointment of a tax advisory committee of experts and laymen to study the tax structure of the state with a view to improvement," Watson said.

Woodson's Production Prowess At Bell Wins Him New Station

O. L. Woodson, vice president of Bell Aircraft Corporation and general manager of the Georgia division of the company, soon will be transferred to another post with the company, it was reliably reported here yesterday.

Woodson, a leader in the aircraft production field, has established an excellent record at the Bell Bomber plant near Marietta, having taken over the plant from the beginning and having inaugurated the building of B-29 Super Fortress bombers.

While production figures at the plant have been concealed for security reasons, veiled announcements such as "on schedule" have indicated satisfaction both from the aircraft company and the Army.

Woodson came to the Marietta plant from a high position in the company's Niagara division, centered at Buffalo, N. Y., where it manufactures other types of planes for the armed forces.

Officials at the company would not comment on the report, nor reveal the possible new assignment for Woodson. No information was forthcoming as to Woodson's successor.

The reported transfer of Woodson was regarded simply as marking the completion of the job he set out to do in getting the Bell plant started on a sound basis, and an indication that the company has a new and important assignment requiring his ability.

being surrounded and steadily wiped out.

Vesely-Kut fell to the Russians last Tuesday and Razdelnaya the following day. In the capture of the former, the communique said the Russian first army had captured 1,100 freight cars loaded with military equipment, including 74 cars of shells, 31 with aircraft bombs, 81 with fodder, and 50 with factory equipment "which the Germans were taking from Odessa to Germany."

In the seizure of Razdelnaya the Russians also made a rich haul, the bulletin listing the capture of 44 guns, 17 locomotives, 500 freight cars laden with military equipment, three supply dumps, and six entire trains, including one loaded with guns and tanks, and another "carrying wounded Germans."

At Full Strength

Uncle Sam's fast-growing Army has finally reached its full strength—7,700,000 men.

That does not mean, of course, that inductions will cease or, for that matter, even slow down. The Navy still needs three hundred thousand men by July first to meet its original 3,500,000-man goal. An additional 100,000 will be needed by September first to man new units of our ever-expanding fleets. And finally, though it is not a pleasant thing to contemplate, there will undoubtedly be, during the next six months, more and more casualties which must be replaced in order that our forces be kept at full fighting strength.

All of which means that the current stepped-up rate of 200,000 inductions a month will have to be continued at least until July first, and that from a hundred to a hundred and fifty thousand, depending upon the extent of our casualties, will be needed thereafter.

Interesting to note, in this connection, is that, according to the latest statistics from national Selective Service headquarters, an all-time high of 1,871,000 men (of which 1,226,000 were fathers) were in 1-A as of March first. And as of that date, in addition, there were still 1,432,000 men in 3-A, awaiting reclassification.

During the month of February, following the order for reclassification of 3-A's, 1,147,000 fathers were placed in other classes. Of that number 364,000—or nearly one-third—were put in 1-A, 525,000—or nearly one-half—were put in 2-A and 2-B. The remainder were classified as follows: 1-C, 54,000; 4-F, 93,000; 2-C and 3-C, 45,000, and class 3-C, 9,000. 57,000 died or reached their 38th birthday during the month.

If, as may be expected, the present ratios continue, some 375,000 men will be added to the 1-A pool before all 3-A's are reclassified. These, with the 1,871,000 already thus classified, plus several hundred thousand in the 18 to 26 group heretofore deferred and the 60,000 who monthly reach eighteen, seem to insure sufficient manpower to keep the nation's armed forces at full fighting strength.

It's good to know, as the zero hour approaches, that our armed services are numerically adequate, thoroughly trained, and completely equipped.

Come what may, and it's coming soon now, the United States is prepared.

'To the Last American Soldier'

Remember one of the lies told by those who wanted to keep us from working with England? It was a joke, so-called, which ended up by saying that England would fight to the last American soldier.

Well, like all well-circulated lies, some persons believed it. One may run into it yet.

The only way to combat those lies is with facts.

The British casualty lists have just been released. In four years of war, with not much going on in the first year and a half, the British have had 667,159 casualties, including 158,741 killed and 78,204 missing, of which at least half are presumed to be dead.

These casualties are at a rate of about 9 to 1, as against ours, on a basis of population.

The British are doing their share of the dying.

Ouija Board Redivivus

Evidently there are a lot of people in the United States who just cannot wait for events of the future to materialize, who are beset with "pins and needles" of impatience until they receive a message from the beyond.

One gathers as much from the fact that, coincident with the War Manpower Commission declaring that fortune tellers were non-essential, the ouija board is experiencing a rebirth of popularity that has caused manufacturers of this mystic slate to work overtime, with department stores reporting an unprecedented demand.

The plywood oracle was named by combining the French and German words for "yes" (oui-ja). Just why "no" does not figure in the name is not revealed, for "no" as well as "yes" is among the weird and ghoulish designs, figures and letters by which the credulous receive their messages.

Oh, well! An ouija board message costs less than one relayed by a fortune teller, and is no doubt just as reliable.

The novelist, Vera Brittain, thinks obliteration raids on German cities hurt us more than they do the foe. That's what I first had to say—but he never called off the licking on that account.

Fifth War Loan

Uncle Sam has not spent all of the $15,270,000,000 that was raised in the fourth war loan, but with expenditures continuing to mount, Secretary Morgenthau believes he will be scraping the bottom of the till before the end of June. Thus he has announced the fifth war loan—with a goal of $16,000,000,000—to open June 12, closing on July 8.

Individual Americans are assigned a quota of $6,000,000,000 despite the fact that they failed by $191,000,000 to meet their quota of $5,500,000,000 in the fourth loan. Corporations, insurance companies and other sources of "big money," which subscribed $11,421,000,000 in the fourth loan, are asked to lend $10,000,000,000 in the forthcoming drive.

With full two months' warning of what is expected of them, patriotic citizens will prepare to do their part in providing the necessary funds to carry the war to ultimate, and, we hope, speedy victory.

ROBERT QUILLEN
Weekly Letter

My Dear Louise:

You ask me how a smart girl can make sure of a bright future and three squares in the wonderful postwar world. I might give you a short answer and say she can't, but I'll try to do better.

The only way to foresee the future is to watch trends. Here's what I mean. If you were out in the Atlantic, in the Gulf Stream, the waves would seem to race this way and that with every passing breeze; but down beneath, the great mass of water would move steadily and eternally on its appointed way, and all things on the surface would move with it.

Human affairs are like that. And if you can recognize a trend, you can tell what is likely to happen.

In recent years, politicians have learned that handouts of public money will win voters and keep them loyal. They have also learned that public money is a perennial and unfailing crop, and the majority keep earning the money to pay taxes for the handouters to give the handoutees.

This handout business is the trend. It means pensions for veterans, for school teachers, for public servants, for old people, and finally for almost everybody. I am not expressing an opinion of it; I am only giving you the facts.

Well, with a fabulous national debt to pay off, and the interest to pay, and pensions for all good voters, there isn't any bright future in being a taxpayer.

There will be good jobs in plenty, after we settle down to rebuilding the world, and the pay should be good; but no matter how much you make, you will never be anything but a poor working girl, for taxes will take most of what you get.

Where, then, is your bright future? Well, you'll find it in another trend.

Governments are steadily becoming more paternal, which means more meddlesome, but also means more interested in the general welfare. They not only provide pensions, but take on more and more jobs of supervising people's lives and trying to make everybody secure and happy.

The trend is to enlarge the staff of public jobholders—to employ more people to spend public money to benefit other people. That means any smart girl should be able to get a government job that will provide three squares till she is past her prime, and then a nice pension for her old age.

But won't the tax man take most of her pay? Not likely. When jobholders are numerous enough, they'll be very powerful; then a new law will make the pay of all public servants exempt from taxation. Insiders take care of themselves.

Love, DAD.

NATIONAL COMMENT:

FOR KEEPING PRICE CONTROL

(The Pittsburgh Press)

Enemies of OPA are whetting their knives to kill price control when the present law expires June 30.

Whatever its faults, OPA at least has helped retard the upward spiral of prices. There may be many things wrong with OPA and with price control in general, but scrapping the program will not cure them.

There no doubt is room for improvement. OPA Administrator Bowles suggests a "more flexible scale" of penalties so that inadvertent violators will not be subject to the drastic punishment meant for major law-breakers.

Some senators have offered suggestions, for court review of OPA decisions and a clearer definition of congressional intent to guide future OPA policies. These are constructive ideas which might strengthen price control.

But those who would wrap a shroud around OPA and bury it would set off a vicious cycle of higher costs, higher wages, still higher prices and still higher wages.

The government already has yielded much ground in its battle to prevent run-away inflation. It cannot afford to retreat further.

GEORGIA EDITORS SAY:

RED ROSES IN A JAIL YARD

(Albany Herald)

Those luckless individuals who are sojourning temporarily in Dougherty county jail are not permitted under the rules of their place of entertainment to do much rambling around, but a rambling rose which clambers all over an ample trellis west of the building is doing a good deal to compensate them for the restraint under which they find themselves.

These particular roses are about as red as roses ever get to be, and there are hundreds of them—singles, doublets, triplets, quadruplets, and clusters of half a dozen or more. Thanks to a cold winter and an abundance of rainfall, this is an ideal spring for roses, and the red rambler on the jail-yard trellis seems to be trying its utmost to break a few records.

Flowers in a jail yard! And why not? Where is brightness more needed, and where is it more likely to be appreciated? Who better than men and women who view the world through barred windows can be thankful for red roses that smother a long trellis with color and lend their fragrance to the passing breeze? Guilty or innocent; first offenders or old-timers; bitter or penitent; white or black; men or women—here are those who are glad that there's room in a jail yard for roses, with a trellis to lift the clambering vines closer to second story windows.

RALPH McGILL
The Greatest Show on Earth

No piece of propaganda the Germans have had has been as juicy and as successful as the one they like the best—

"The slaughter going across the channel in the invasion will be terrific. . . .

"A million American boys will be killed and wounded—maybe more. . . ."

That was the story they used. It was successful because of its obviousness. It is going to be tough going across the channel. Men will be killed.

So, the Germans piled it on. They willingly released pictures of super-guns. They spoke of secret defenses. They mentioned the "in-depth" concrete pillboxes and gun emplacements extending 25 miles back into the interior from the coast.

From time to time stories came out about "strengthening" of the coastal walls.

Every American, especially every American with a father, son or husband in the war, has been thinking about that strip of water across which Napoleon once peered so longingly. Hitler looked across it after Dunkirk.

The Germans knew that was the fear of the American people.

Put the natural apprehension together with the German propaganda and you have one reason why the war is weighing heavier and heavier on the minds of the American people.

Now, what are the facts?

GENERAL BRADLEY Well, no one knows the facts. But there are estimates we may take. So far, only one official person, the Germans excepted, has made an estimate.

Yesterday a story was released by Lieutenant General Omar Bradley. He spoke to the staff officers in charge of invasion plans.

He said to them:

"This stuff about tremendous losses is tommyrot.

"The success of the whole war depends on this operation and I have no fear of its outcome," the commander of American ground forces in the United Kingdom assured officers who will lead the doughboys into action. . .

"When the time comes you will be surprised by the naval gunfire and air power we have.

"Some of you won't come back, but it will be very few.

"In the Tunisian campaign we lost only an average of four men to 1,000, and certainly seeing a show like this ought to be worth that chance.

"They say Barnum and Bailey had the greatest show on earth, but that will be only a sideshow compared to the one you will be in. When your men get up to fight you will be scared, but it will be up to you to get up and lead your men in attack.

"Put your men in the right frame of mind. You can't surrender in warfare. Fight it out to the last ammunition. The enemy might be as bad off as you are. It is much better to do that than to be made prisoner.

"I have heard rumors that 90 per cent of us wouldn't come back. That is tommyrot. I think you are lucky to have this opportunity and I am happy to be with you. We have the best soldiers and best equipment and more of it than the Germans ever dreamed of. After a few days of it you won't have anything to worry about."

He urged them not to "condemn your men too quickly if they show fear in the early stages" but to "exert your leadership and lead them forward."

So much for that.

AN ESTIMATE That is General Bradley's guess, or estimate. It is the best one because it is the first official one. It may be argued he would not be telling them that slaughter would be awful even if he thought so.

The answer to that is the invasion would not be made unless there was a real chance for success, and success doesn't mean losing all your men.

We have been flying over that coast for years. We have some intelligence reports from France and Holland. It is not as strong at some points as in the more obvious landing beaches.

When we strike it will be with a well-thought-out plan.

There will be many lives lost.

But the fact that General Bradley believes we can do it with a minimum of casualties measured against the vastness of the operation is encouraging and ought to do much to defeat the German propaganda.

Or would we rather believe the Germans?

BILL CUNNINGHAM
Lack of Familiarity With War Keeps Public Mind on Other Things

(Ralph Jones, whose column usually appears here, is ill. He will resume writing at an early date.)

I have just returned from a tour covering approximately the eastern half of the United States, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, from New Orleans to New York, with stops in Chicago, Cleveland, Birmingmam, Memphis, two in Washington, and so on. This was a job of work, and no junket. On only two nights of approximately a month was a stiff routine of day-and-evening interviewing suspended.

As far as the east, the midwest and the south are concerned, every stratum of society in a wartime nation was entered, information sought and testimony taken.

These are the major impressions.

A noticeable, and as the days began to run into numbers, a puzzling, if indeed not a challenging fact, was that the fighting part of the war was never brought up as a primary subject. "The war" came up sooner or later in almost every conversation, but it was always "after the war," "during the war," or some such.

Nobody waxed enthusiastic over our progress in the Pacific, or wondered "what the matter is" at Cassino or Anzio.—Only once was I asked if I had a guess to venture as to the date of the long-promised invasion, and that was by a nationally known politician profoundly interested in the next presidential election.

NO LACK OF INTEREST I didn't gather that there's any lack of interest in the subject. But their thinking definitely wasn't focused upon the point of the fighting. If that's necessary for victory, something's gone amiss. Efforts to bring the matter up myself weren't too successful. Answers were usually, "What can we do but give money, donate blood and plug away at our jobs? That part of the problem is all out of our hands. What do I know about Burma or the beach at Salerno? And what good would it do, anyhow?"

Then the conversation invariably went along to politics, to business prospects after the war, the difficulty of getting familiar things in a war-rationed economy, the substitutes and makeshifts, the difficulty in keeping help—all personal matters and postwar plans.

I wouldn't call it complacency. It seemed more hesitancy to discuss a subject because of lack of familiarity with it—a sort of general helplessness with it. There seemed to be a lack of familiarity because of a complete lack of information. This particular point was brought up by many, and occasionally with stinging bitterness.

PICTURE NOT CLEAR The picture isn't clear in their minds. They point to a lack of foreign policy, or the lack, at least, of its announcement; the puzzling and contradictory moves that seem to say we're making one up as we go along. They point to the lack of a war policy, of stated war aims. The Atlantic Charter is too general. They want to know what we propose to do with Germany, where Russia plans to stop, what Britain expects as her share, who'll make the peace, and will we have to do it again? With all this vague, they too are vague.

The war, as such, and its postwar problems of map and mind, they dismiss as something they simply haven't sufficient information to discuss. This is probably a natural consequence of the policy officially adopted as the war was making up. That was secrecy at the top. The public was asked to place its full confidence in its leaders and not to ask questions. It was never made a partner to full information. No effort was made to sell the public the war. We simply moved in and went on from there.

Perhaps it won't make any difference in the long run, but it at least turns the minds of many men toward subjects they feel they really can get hold of. To that extent their concentration is off the main national assignment—the physical job of licking Hitler.

OLLIE REEVES

We hesitate to count the years since we have had a look
At a piece of school equipment that we called the "copy-book"—
There were maxims written in them which we strove to imitate
And we copied the wise sayings from the writings of the great;
Fine quotations from Disraeli, or Poor Richard's Almanac,
Words from Lincoln, Gladstone, Jefferson and some from de Balzac.
We remember one quotation, through the years that hurried by,
And it read . . . "Be ever vigilant and on thyself rely." . . .
There's a maxim we could polish up and use today, perhaps,
When too many folks are crowding on the governmental laps,
For we've lost our self-reliance and we're hoping to be fed
Like Elijah, when the ravens brought him down his daily bread,
And we need to rediscover self-reliance and the charm
That is in the good old helping hand that's hanging on our arm.

WESTBROOK PEGLER
Rawalt Speech

NEW YORK—I was plodding through a speech by Senator Taft, of Ohio, about bureaucracy but couldn't give it very close attention because it kept reminding me vaguely of something I had read a few days before which made his point much more effectively. So, after a search among the propaganda for a free Palestine, backed by American soldiers, and handouts from the Civil Liberties crowd, the National Association of Manufacturers, the Communists and Wendell Willkie, I found an address which I believe to be the most cynical damnation of the American citizen to a hell of persecution by bureaucratic picking ever uttered by any member of the New Deal government or of the opposition.

This speech was delivered before the Texas Bar Association by Miss Marguerite Rawalt, a special attorney in the appeals division of the chief counsel of the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Miss Rawalt is president of the Federal Bar Association, an organization of New Deal lawyers, including judges, employed by the government, many of whom are members also of the Lawyers' Guild, whose first president, Judge Ferdinand Pecora, resigned because it was dominated by the Communists.

Though cynical, Miss Rawalt was thoroughly honest and practical. The citizen occupied no place in her remarks. Her message was an exhortation to her fellow lawyers to get aware of the existence of government by bureaucracy and to grab off their share of the loot from a nation bedeviled by confusing and harassing rules, regulations and interpretations, many of them improvised by New Deal bureaus operating as courts.

Convincing

When Senator Taft points out such facts and conditions he is dull and querulous and easily laughed down. But coming from the president of the New Deal's bar association, the frank admission of the extent to which the citizen has been elbowed out of court and into New Deal bureaus for his justice, constantly in need of lawyers to keep him out of jail, is thoroughly convincing. Miss Rawalt certainly would not exaggerate.

"Speaking of opportunity," the lady said, "are the lawyers of this country, men and women, going to take full advantage of their opportunities in administrative law? It is the most rapidly expanding area of law practice today. There are some 217 special courts, bureaus and commissions which today decide upon and administer various federal laws directly affecting citizens and business firms in this country. This does not take into account similar state quasi-judicial bodies. Administrative law, through the Federal Communications Commission, regulates the programs you hear on your radio and determine the use of the telephone and telegraph in our country today. Administrative law, through the Federal Trade Commission, determine various trade practices within the industries of this nation. Administrative law, through the OPA and other departments, regulates what food you may buy and what you may pay for it. Concurrent with the phenomenal growth in this field of law, there has been a sudden decrease in the number of lawyers."

Claim Stakers

At this point, Miss Rawalt implored her fellow attorneys not to be caught flat-footed and negligent, as lawyers were when, in 1913, they "overlooked the significance of future income tax practice," yielding this profitable work to "self-styled tax experts." She warned them, instead, to "stake their claim in this promising professional gold mine now and avoid the costly process of ejectment of others who have laid claim thereto." She thought they had a solemn obligation to the lawyers now away at war to establish proprietorship over such practice so that on their return they could join in the sport of picking the flesh from the bones of their comrades in arms who are not lawyers. And by way of further encouragement to her colleagues, Miss Rawalt passed on the good word that a certain provision which was expressed in 500 words in the original income tax law now runs to 2,300 words "not to mention lengthy regulations, interpreting and implementing the code." In the same heartening vein she cited a recent dictum from Justice Felix Frankfurter, the grand philosopher of the New Deal, that: "The notion that because the words of a statute are plain, its meaning also is plain, is merely pernicious over-amplification."

Miss Rawalt closed with optimistic assurance that future tax laws would be longer and more confusing but, unlike Senator Taft, deplored none of this. Her concern was not at all for the survival or fate of George Spelvin, American, but only that lawyers should seize their share of his possessions as he is tossed up for grabs by his government.

The Little Man Who Wasn't Even There

JACK TARVER
Dissertation On The Cost of Pheasant

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I note that the OPA is at long last showing signs of getting tough in the matter of enforcing price ceilings.

Just this week, for instance, they filed three of Augusta's whisky gentlemen away for a year in the stoney-lonesome on account of overcharging their clients, and last week, up in New York, 75 eating places were enjoined from raising the price of their Blue Plate Special.

I am glad to note, also, that the OPA is knocking over the big boys as well as the small fry in the matter, or at least that is the impression I get from the size of the fines in the Augusta transaction. Ten thousand dollars is a sizable wad of folding money, even in the whisky profession.

Likewise am I gratified that included in the list of New York restaurants listed for overcharging are such famous institutions as Maxim's, The Chambord, and Dinty Moore's, along with Joe's Lunch, the All Nite Beanery, and Ptomaine Charlie's.

And most of all I am pleased that one well-known Manhattan Cafe has been forced to cut the menu listing of Le Coq Faison, Edward VII from $15 back to $10, where it was when price ceilings went into effect.

Personally, I have never partaken of any Le Coq Faison, Edward VII and indeed would not know it were I to meet it in the street. Nevertheless, were I ever to be in New York and feel a hunger for Le Coq Faison, Edward VII, I should like to know that it is available and at prewar prices.

The OPA is to be congratulated for the democratic policies it is thus following. Certainly it is fortunate inasmuch as the evils of wartime profiteering fall alike on the rich and poor.

In fact, if anything, I expect that it is the well-to-do who, more than anyone else, needs to be protected. A gent does not mind putting up a holler when they raise the price of the Merchant's Lunch from 35 to 40 cents, but he is bound to feel somewhat foolish, having feasted on Le Coq Faison, Edward VII, to complain when the tariff is 15 rather than 10 smackeroos.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS
No GOP Candidate Has Outlined Views

WASHINGTON.—One noteworthy effect of Wendell L. Willkie's withdrawal as a Republican presidential aspirant is that it leaves the GOP field without a single candidate who has spoken out on the leading issues of the day.

Neither Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, nor Governor Bricker, of Ohio, as the two leading contenders on the home front, have committed themselves on any of the broad questions which promise to hold the center of stage in the coming campaign. Both have adroitly skirted around the edges, for fear, it seems, of antagonizing conflicting elements who might be weaned away from their candidacies.

The same is even more true of the two remaining GOP potentials, General Douglas MacArthur and former Governor Harold Stassen, of Minnesota, now assigned to duty with our naval forces in the Pacific.

As regards MacArthur and Stassen, it would be less appropriate to expect commitments from them as to their positions than it is of Dewey and Bricker, since military restrictions prevent the first two from entering into political discussions.

Mr. Willkie is the only one who thus far has revealed his stand with any degree of frankness. And now he has eliminated himself from the picture.

REMARKABLE VICTORY It is all the more remarkable, under the circumstances, that Governor Dewey should have won the easy victory he did in the Wisconsin preferential primary, a victory that led Willkie to withdraw from the race.

Not only did he win hands down in a contest with three other contenders for the nomination—General MacArthur, former Governor Stassen, and Mr. Willkie—but, what is more extraordinary, he achieved his victory despite the fact he had disclaimed any intention of being a candidate and had asked those running as delegates in his behalf to withdraw from the race.

Mr. Willkie, on the other hand, was the only candidate to personally participate in the campaign. He stumped the state from one end to another, and it may be assumed that he was amply supplied with funds to further his candidacy. Despite all of this, he ran last in a field of four.

After the defeat he suffered, there was nothing for him to do but step down from the race, as he quickly and correctly did.

To most observers it had seemed from the start that Willkie had little to gain by going into the Wisconsin primary. The Badger State, to begin with, has been something of a political screwball for years. Its people have long been associated with isolationism, the very antithesis of Willkie's concept of foreign policy.

The La Follettes have been the dominant political factors in the state for more than a generation. They have been nonintervention ists from the beginning, so that the people have been strongly indoctrinated with that sort of policy for years. Moreover, there is a very considerable German element in Wisconsin.

Even if Willkie had won in Wisconsin, that in itself would not have proved anything in particular, because he was the only active candidate. The others were absentee candidates.

Willkie was, therefore, using the state as a testing ground. If he could poll a large vote, that would be a selling point for his candidacy. If he was unable to sell himself to the Wisconsin voters against candidates who did not put in an appearance, he realized that the jig was up.

What he has since done tends to confirm all of this.

OLD GUARD HATRED There can be little doubt that the main cause of Willkie's defeat in Wisconsin and his subsequent withdrawal from the race is due to the deep-seated antagonism his name has aroused among Old Guard leaders of the party ever since the 1940 convention, when he walked away with the nomination over their heads.

One thing the Republican moss-backs have never forgiven him for is the fact that he was a registered Democrat up to the very time he was nominated at Philadelphia—a Tammany Democrat at that.

Over and above this, he is the type of a self-willed leader that has never appealed to the Republican Old Guard. This group has always preferred someone it could dominate, rather than a man who insisted upon dominating. Mr. Willkie is a man to give orders; not one to take them.

At the present stage of things it is doubtful that any man the Republicans name has a chance of defeating President Roosevelt, so the Old Guard, in its elimination of Mr. Willkie, may have paved the way for his only chance to succeed to the presidency by making it possible for the Democrats to put him on the ticket with Mr. Roosevelt as a gesture toward national unity.

Nothing could have a greater appeal to the country. It is a ticket that would be a sure winner.

Crackers Play 1st Exhibition at Federal Prison

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

Unusual Finish Since this seems to be a season of tall story hours, it might be well to repeat this one for truth. I have heard it told, with variations, by Bill Alexander, and so I know it must have happened.

Two Negro colleges, close rivals, were playing their annual football game. It was one of those rock 'em, sock 'em contests that were down toward the finish in a tie.

One of the teams got a break and moved the ball deep into the rival's territory. Time was running out fast and so a field goal attempt was indicated.

The teams lined up and the star kicker went back to try for the winning points. It was a tense moment. The followers of the two teams were whetting their razors and the officials were extremely uncomfortable.

No one seems to know, to this day, just exactly what happened.

The kicker swung his toe into the ball. The ball soared directly toward the posts. And then it seemed to shrivel. It fell sack-like across the cross bar and rocked gently in the breeze.

Just then the final whistle was sounded.

And that was the first time on record (?) that the officials of a football game tore down the goal posts.

Umpire Strategy There also was the incident of the Negro baseball game. Quite a bit of moola had been wagered on the outcome and the umpire was in a hot spot.

Came the ninth inning and the score was tied. The home team had the bases loaded, two out and the count three and two on the batter.

There were ominous signs in the direction of the umpire from grandstand and bleachers. Beads of perspiration collected on his brow. He could hear the scrape of metal.

Then the windup, the pitch—and the ball blazed into the catcher's mitt.

There was silence—deep, heavy silence that could be cut with a knife—like the umpire's throat.

"Tie ball!" the umpire squeaked after an interminable period.

An explanation was demanded.

"Too high fo' a strike and too low fo' a ball. And this here game's called on account o' darkness!"

A Good Thing Mexicans apparently don't know a good thing in baseball when they see one. Rogers Hornsby, managing Vera Cruz, came out of retirement after all these years to go into a game as a pinch-hitter. It was the ninth inning, bases loaded, and Hornsby hit a double to beat Puebla, 14 to 13.

But the Vera Cruz management wanted Hornsby to pay his expenses on the road and there were other "difficulties." So Hornsby, who can still hit, resigned the next day.

Hornsby had won a previous game as a pinch-hitter and, at the time of his resignation, had pulled Vera Cruz into second place.

It may be that only the pennant-winning managers are given expenses on the road . . . in old Mexico.

"There is a great future for baseball in Mexico, but a lack of organization," Hornsby said. But no future, of course, in hitting doubles and paying for the privilege.

Take It Away There is the story of the tender-hearted rookie attending his first training camp. Everything went well until meal time. He was staying with a club that was served the finest fare in the land. There wasn't even a hint of rationing.

For the meat course there was a thick porterhouse steak smothered in onions.

But the rookie broke down.

"I can't go it," he whispered hoarsely.

"What is the matter, sir?" the waiter asked. "Is your steak too well-done?"

"I can't stand to see anything smothered," the rookie responded, choking back a sob.

Chick Catcher Worry Eased

MEMPHIS, April 7.—(AP)—The Memphis baseball club's catcher shortage was partially relieved today with the arrival in camp of Leslie McGarity, receiver obtained from Baltimore.

McGarity's appearance was particularly welcomed because until now catching duties had been handled singlehandedly by the veteran Mickey O'Neil.

Another new addition to the Chicks' squad is Laverne Smith, young righthand pitcher sent down by the St. Louis Browns on a "look."

BARON SQUAD CUT

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—Manager Johnny Riddle today lopped two infielders off the Birmingham Barons' roster and ordered intrasquad games to be played on an ever-other-day basis.

The players released were Horace Bryant, of Bastrop, La., and Albert Whatley, of Anniston, Ala. Riddle said Ray Mink, Arthur Cook, Arthur Mills and Aoe Lease likely would see mound service in tomorrow afternoon's intraclub tussle.

EMPHASIS ON HITTING

CHATTANOOGA, April 7.—(AP)—The emphasis was on batting again today at the Chattanooga Lookouts practice camp with Manager Scrappy Moore concentrating on having the boys meet the ball well and hit in in a straight line.

The squad's Cuban pitchers, with a winter's work behind them, bore down in batting practice, but Left Fielder J. D. Langley, Catchers Red Barbary and Joe Lopez, Second Baseman Hector Arago, Centerfielder Norman Veazey and Third Baseman Gilbert Coon all cracked out some nice hits.

YANNIGANS SWAMPED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 7.—(AP)—A quartet of rookie fielders and two unseasoned southpaws showed up well today as Frank Papish's regulars swamped Ralph Pate's Yannigans, 22-0, in the second Little Rock Traveler intrasquad game.

Dean Boswell, of Bryant, allowed only one scratch hit for four innings and Aaron Carlisle, the second regular pitcher, held the Pates to two the rest of the way.

Other players who pleased Manager Bob Seeds were Third Baseman Chuck Conn, Shortstop Bob Hyatt, Second Baseman Eugene Rusin and Outfielder Bob Okrie.

STAN OGDEN IN FORM

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 7.—(AP)—Stanley Ogden, who pitched for the Knoxville Smokies last season, was back on the mound today and he gave Babe Benning's regulars a 9-1 victory in an intrasquad game.

Ogden allowed but one hit, a long double by Fred Hawkins, a Knoxville sandlotter, that bounced off right field fence.

Pacing the hitting for Acting Manager Benning's nine were Ronnie Marsh, of Knoxville and Cecil Dunn, leading home run hitter in the Southern loop last year.

Fulton Upsets Decatur Squad

Surging back from a defeat by West Fulton Tuesday afternoon, Fulton High upset the favored Decatur High squad in an N. G. I. C. Baseball League tilt Friday afternoon, 8-6, at Decatur.

The game was a battle of strikeouts, McMillan, the winning pitcher, setting down 15 of the Decatur batters via three strikes, and Weaver, of Decatur, whiffing 14 Fulton men. Fulton had slightly the better of it in its hits with eight to Decatur's seven, and playing errorless ball while Decatur was guilty of two miscues.

Hodges, of Decatur, and McMillan, of Fulton, tied for hitting honors, each with four out of five, one of Hodges' being a double and McMillan having a triple in his quartet of blows. Ferguson and Ramsey, of Decatur, had doubles while Parker and Leftwich, of the winners, also laced out two-ply knocks.

The score by innings:

Fulton	001	002	131—8	8	0
Decatur	001	010	004—6	7	2

In another N. G. I. C. scheduled contest, Marist won on a forfeit from Commercial, according to Coach Whalen, when the Typists failed to show up for the game at Grant Park Friday morning.

Claussen's Taddy Third at Medford

MEDFORD, N. J., April 7.—(AP)—Superiority, a black and white pointer owned by Dr. Deane Hundley, of Wallace, N. C., and handled by Dewey English, of High Point, N. C., captured the major portion of the $500 guaranteed purse in the Open Junior All-Age Stake of the English Setter Club's annual bird dog field trials.

English also piloted Dr. Sam's Souveneer, owned by Dr. S. O. Black, of Spartanburg, S. C., to second place. The third place spot was divided between Claussen's Taddy and Tec's Whirlaway, both pointers and both handled by Fred Bevan, of Waynesboro, Ga.

Euclid Claussen, of Augusta, Ga., owns Taddy, while Whirlaway is the property of L. F. Stevens, of Salisbury, Md.

LINDELL GOES IN.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 7.—(AP)—Outfielder Johnny Lindell of the New York Yankees has been accepted for service in the Navy, Jack Farrell, club publicity director, said tonight. The Yankee ball snatcher will remain with the team until called for duty, Farrell said.

ADAIR PARK WINS

The boys' team of Adair Park won a 21-13 victory over Sylvan Hills Friday morning in a game played on the winners' diamond. Williams was the winning hurler with Knowles the loser.

Bill Nicholson Asking $17,500 For '44 Season

FRENCH LICK, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—Bill Nicholson, who led the National League last year with 29 homers and 128 runs batted in, still doesn't know which lettuce he wants—the kind he grows on his farm or the kind that the Chicago Cubs are willing to unfold to keep him in baseball.

Although Jim Gallagher, the Cubs' vice president, roared into French Lick for a pow-wow with his star outfielder, Nick's status after two days in spring camp still remains vague.

Gallagher says Nicholson has agreed to terms. But on the other hand, Nick is threatening to return to his 1,000-acre farm at Chestertown, Md., any day now and will not admit that he has signed a 1944 Cub pact.

On the basis of his power at the plate last season, Nicholson was reported to have asked for a modest $17,500 to play ball with the Cubs this year, only to discover that Gallagher had anchored himself to a $16,500 offer.

Nicholson appears willing to shrug off the label as the Cubs' highest-paid athlete in favor of being known as a farmer. By returning to Maryland he will keep a deferred draft rating because of his agricultural work.

"If I stay in baseball my draft board said I should drop them a card and I would be put in 1-A. Then I would be called in May, which means if I passed the physical I probably would go in June. That would give me only six weeks of baseball, and there's no percentage in that."

Nicholson went with the Cubs to George Field, Ind., today for a scheduled game with the Chicago White Sox. Gallagher remained in French Lick.

Voyles Names Two Grid Aides

AUBURN, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—Appointment of Arnold W. Umbach, assistant coach at William and Mary, and Shorty Propst, south Alabama lumberman, as assistants to Coach Carl Voyles at Auburn was announced today by President L. N. Duncan.

Voyles recently transferred to Auburn from William and Mary.

"Coach Voyles has made arrangements for two staff members to assist him with the athletic program," the announcement said. "One of his former assistants at William and Mary, Arnold W. Umbach, will begin work immediately, and on April 15 Shorty Propst will join the staff. These two appointments are temporary and continue for the duration."

Propst, a former University of Alabama star, has coached at Howard College, Birmingham, and Southwestern, Memphis.

Apprentice Rides 5 Consecutive Winning Nags

MIAMI, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Bobby Permane, apprentice jockey, brought home five consecutive winners at Tropical Park today to set a record for the Florida season.

The 20-year-old rider's quintet topped a sensational three days in which he finished 13 times with first money. He rode five winners yesterday also.

Permane's score for Tropical's 29 days now stands at 45.

The youngster had only seven mounts today and was out of the money only in the second. In the third he pushed Dream Fox into second place and won the remaining five in decisive fashion.

He won today on Key Largo $3.90) in the fourth and then followed with Oaking ($5.90), Swift Marine ($4.60), Yank Bomber ($7.10) and Rest Awhile ($4.00).

SOUTHERN RECORD-HOLDERS—Dr. H. F. Hope, left, and H. E. Nolen rolled the highest eight-game total ever recorded in the southeast to win the annual city doubles championship recently. They had a total of 2,046 pins for the eight games, just 10 under the world's record.

Ed Levy Leads Yankees To 13-5 Win Over Macks

ATLANTIC CITY, April 7.—(AP)—Ed Levy, New York outfielder who has complained most of the spring about a lame arm, smacked an inside-the-park homer, two doubles and two singles today in five trips to the plate as the Yankees halted the Philadelphia Athletics, 13-5.

The A's had won six in a row until Levy's big bat stopped them for the first time this season.

Joe Berry, up from Milwaukee of the American Association, was the victim of a seven-run Yankee outburst in the seventh frame. He was touched for seven hits in the inning.

The Yankees sent Infielder Joe Buzas back to the Newark Bears of the International League.

NATS FACE PHILLIES

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The Washington Senators will get their first taste of major league competition when they go against the Philadelphia National League team tomorrow in Wilmington, Delaware.

The Senators, hard pressed to achieve a 1-0 victory Thursday over a none-too-strong Baltimore outfit, may be in for a rough time unless their batting power strengthens. Otherwise Ossie Bluege's potential team seemed to be gradually rounding into shape.

PHILS WIN ONE

BALTIMORE, Md., April 7.—The Philadelphia Phillies won their first exhibition game of the year today, defeating the Baltimore Orioles of the International League, 10-8.

Charley Schanz went the full nine innings for the Phils and allowed 11 hits, one more than his mates made off three Baltimore hurlers.

Jimmy Wasdell hit a grand slam homer in the sixth, and Rookie Ted Cieslak, of the Phillies, had a perfect day at bat with a homer, single, two walks and four runs batted in. Blas Monaco, of the Orioles, hit for the circuit in the eighth with two aboard.

DODGERS BEAT MONTREAL

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated their Montreal farm hands in a seven-inning practice game on Durocher field today, 7 to 0.

Tom Warren pitched the first five rounds for the National Leaguers and became the first member of the Brooklyn staff to go beyond three innings in a spring game.

Gene Mauch who belongs to the Royals, played shortstop for the Dodgers and connected for a double.

TIGERS TRIM SOLDIERS

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—Playing before an enthusiastic soldier crowd, the Detroit Tigers won their fourth exhibition game in six starts today by defeating the 820th Tank Destroyer Battalion of Camp Breckenridge (Ky.), 8 to 2.

Rookie Right-hander Zeb Eaton pitched one-hit ball for the first five innings for Detroit. The veteran Johnny Gorsica finished, allowing five blows. The Tigers got all their runs off Sergeant Eddie Metro, who once pitched for Quebec in the Canadian-American League.

INDIAN HITTING GOOD

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians returned to Purdue University fieldhouse to rest today, before playing the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association Saturday and Sunday to open a one-a-day schedule of exhibitions.

The Tribe's performance in exhibition has indicated, among other things, a possibility the team's hitting may approach pre-war standards at least.

An even dozen hits were rung up in both games the Indians have played, one of them a loser to the Cincinnati Reds and the other in the 6 to 3 triumph over Pittsburgh yesterday.

REDS ABANDON CAMP

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds were forced indoors today in the final tuneup before departing for Louisville, Ky., for a two-game series with the Chicago Cubs.

Following the weekend games with the Cubs, the Reds swing around the ear-muff league for four contests with the Cleveland Indians to be played in Richmond, Ind., Dayton, Ohio, and the final pair at Cincinnati.

CUBS WALLOP CHISOX

GEORGE FIELD, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—Hopping on Johnny Humphries for six runs in the first two innings and grabbing another half-dozen off Gordon Maltzberger, the Chicago Cubs today walloped the Chicago White Sox 12 to 3 before a crowd of about 4,000 soldiers and civilians.

The game was called in the sixth inning because of high wind which stirred up dust and impaired visibility.

Leading the 13-hit Cub attack were Ed Stanky and Phil Cavarretta with three safeties apiece, and Pitcher Paul Erickson with a home run.

GIANTS WIN IN 9TH

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 7.—(AP)—A ninth-inning double by Steve Filipowicz with the bases loaded gave the New York Giants a 3 to 2 victory over their Jersey City International league farm club today. Before Filipowicz connected, the little Giants led, 2 to 1.

The game was played at a military camp on the eastern seaboard.

Marriage To Duel 4 Freedoms Today

MIAMI, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—The winners of the two richest races of the winter will fight it out tomorrow in the $10,000 Tropical Handicap, which tops off Florida's first 100 million-dollar betting season.

Coward and Dupuy's 8-year-old gelding, Marriage, victor in the $25,000 New Orleans Handicap in February, will go to post for the mile and one-eighth event the favorite at approximately even money.

But Greentree Stable's Four Freedoms outran Marriage in racing to a triumph in the $25,000 Widener Handicap in March, and will be heavily backed—particularly since the wonder jockey, Eddie Arcaro, will be in the saddle.

Marriage was fifth in the Widener, but came back to score decisively in the Coral Gables Handicap at Tropical Park two weeks ago and has been training impressively. Billy Thompson will ride the story-book thoroughbred. Marriage must carry 126 pounds, conceding six to Four Freedoms.

Hapeville Meet Won by C-I Boys

In the finals of the Hapeville High basketball tournament, played yesterday morning on the school court, the C-1 class edged out the D-3 Fast Workers, 14-11, in a thrilling game. C-1 held a 9-4 lead at the half.

Robert Whitaker and Earnest Hogue paced the winners with four tallies each while Jesse Smith, D-3 forward, took high point honors with six points.

Ki Ki Cuyler Picks Hubbell To Open Game

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.

The groundhog and the first robin already had heralded the coming of spring, and yesterday Manager Ki Ki Cuyler and his Chackers verified it officially for Atlanta by playing their first inter-squad game of the season to ready themselves for their first exhibition fracas today with the Federal Prison nine, with the latter being the host team, of course.

The Cracker skipper divided his squad into two teams, the "Creaks," which included most of the first-string players, and the "Groans," who showed their disdain for the regulars by trimming them, 5 to 4, in the six-inning affair at Ponce de Leon park.

That somewhat worried look on Manager Cuyler's face last night was there because of a couple of injuries his charges suffered, thought just how serious they are had not been fully ascertained as yet. Big Murray Howell did not work out at all due to a "misery" in his back that started after he took a too healthy cut at a pitch the day before, and Catcher Boger had a finger split by a foul tip in yesterday's game.

HUBBELL WILL START

Manager Cuyler announced that John Hubbell, Charlie Cozart and a husky lad named Wright will twirl three innings each against the Prison club today, and that Lewis Carpenter, Mauney and Pedro Jimenez, a Cuban hurler who is expected to report today, will do the pitching Sunday at Ponce de Leon Park where the Crackers meet Captain Cliff Smith's powerful Ft. McPherson Reception Center club, which includes such stars as Bill Ayers and Charlie (Red) Roberts, ex-Chattanooga and Washington infielder.

Five youngsters have been cut from the squad. They include Blanton, Squeglia and Laca, infielders, and O'Dell and Graham, outfielders. Guyler said an effort was being made to place them all somewhere, however.

The lineup that started for the Creaks yesterday is essentially the one that will take the field in the first two exhibitions. The batting order read Mauldin, cf; Morris, 1b; Goodman, rf; Harris, lf; Lipscomb, 3b; Fallon, ss; Cross, 2b; plus the catchers and pitchers.

Edgar Chitwood and Lefty Cronin flipped three innings each for the winning Groans, and Kwoka and Lefty Lark were out there for three frames apiece for the Creaks.

Batting stars of the very informal affair—substitutions were made frequently and Nig Lipscomb performed for both sides—were Ed Brosius, shortstop from Chicago, who banged out three singles in three trips, and Jesse Bradshaw, Atlanta boy who is trying to gra' one of the catching berths. Jesse connected for two singles in two trips. His blows each batted in a run, the last one being the winning marker.

ERRORS ARE FREQUENT

No one else got more than one hit though Johnson blasted a triple and Nig Lipscomb a double. Errors of omission and commission were many, as is usually the case this early, but Shortstop Fallon and Marshall Mauldin, of the Creaks, both made a fine running catch each.

Cronin struck out five during his 3-inning stint on the mound, two of them going down in the last frame with the prospective tying and winning runs on third and second base.

Score by innings:

Groans	100	301—5
Creaks	020	020—4

Kwoka, Cronin (4) and Hofstra, Bradshaw (4); Chitwood, Lark (4) and Boger, Schmidt (3).

Prison, James

Leave it to the baseball brethren to find a way out of most any difficult situation.

The Atlanta Crackers found themselves unable, because of wartime restrictions, to charter a bus for transportation to the federal penitentiary where they are scheduled to play an exhibition game tomorrow.

So, they chartered a street car.

New Honors Given Steve Van Buren

BATON ROUGE, La., April 7.—(AP)—Louisiana State University today announced two new honors for Steve Van Buren, star of the 1943 Tiger Orange Bowl winners: Election to the LSU athletic Hall of Fame and membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity.

The New Orleans student in engineering, whose grid tactics won him the name of "LSU's Moving Van," already had been named both team captain and "most valuable player," all-conference, to the Associated Press all-America third team, and was one of the nation's highest scorers.

Canadiens Far Out In Front of Hawks

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—With two straight victories, the Montreal Canadiens today held a big bulge over the Chicago Blackhawks in their Stanley Cup hockey playoffs as the teams pointed for the third game of the best of seven series here Sunday.

Having whipped the Chicagoans, 5 to 1, in the opener at Montreal Tuesday, the Canadiens made it two in a row by a 3-1 count at Chicago stadium last night before 16,003 customers. Maurice Richard, ace right wing, registered all three of his team's goals, notching one about midway in the second period and two in the final session.

Goalie Bill Durnan, who turned in a sensational game, missed a shutout by only one second. At 19.39 of the final period Chicago scored on a shot by Young Johnny Harms, rookies wing from Hershey, Pa., of the American League.

CAGE SEASON ENDS

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—Chicago's High school basketball season, running overtime, will wind up tomorrow night with two games at the stadium, for all-city honors. Marshall Juniors, winner of 98 straight games and declared junior champs, will meet Weber, Catholic League titleholders, in the first game, followed by a clash between South Shore and Mt. Carmel, defending all-city senior champions and undefeated in 27 straight contests.

HIGHLIGHTS OF TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS

That diligent search for a successor to Ralph Edwards on his "Truth or Consequences" show has ended. Harry von Zell is the winner. In the process, von Zell, who announces the Eddie Cantor and Dinah Shore programs, topped 94 contestants. The new emcee will break into the routine of the series slowly, starting with the broadcast at 7:30 p. m. today from WSB. Eddie Cantor also will appear on tonight's show, presumably to lend von Zell moral support. Edwards will step out of the picture following the April 22 program to await induction.

Eleanor Steber, soprano, now completing her fourth successful season with the Metropolitan, and Jan Peerce, tenor, will be the visiting guest stars on "The Music America Loves Best," from WAGA at 6:30 p. m. In keeping with the Easter holiday, Miss Steber will sing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and, from "La Boheme," the young soprano has selected "Musetta Waltz." Peerce will sing "La Donna E Mobile" and "The Holy City."

Jeanne Cagney will star in an original drama on "Theater of Today" (WGST at 11 a. m.) . . . Puccini's "Tosca" will be this afternoon's "Metropolitan" broadcast. OPA Director Chester Bowles will be among those heard discussing victory gardening during the intermission at 2:45 p. m. The opera starts, at 1 p. m., from WAGA . . . Youth's wartime contributions will be outlined in "Strength for Youth" (WSB at 12:30 p. m.) . . . Marion Mann will substitute for Nancy Martin, suffering from laryngitis (WAGA at 4:45 p. m.) . . . Young American pianist William Kapell will be soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra (WGST at 2:30 p. m.) . . . The Boston Symphony will perform Haydn's Symphony No. 80 in D Minor and a first broadcast of Walter Piston's Symphony No. 2 (WAGA at 7:30 p. m.)

LEAGUE OPENING.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—(AP)—Pacific Coast League baseball starts its 42d season tomorrow, and in the face of diminishing manpower, increased amusement taxes and the uncertainty of war conditions, the outlook for the sport appears brighter than it did a year ago. Relaxation of dimout regulations will permit night games.

Tech, Tulane Trackmen Clash Here Today, 2:30

Georgia Tech and Tulane track teams will clash at Grant Field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the season's first college meet. The winner is expected to be the odds-on choice to take the annual Southeastern Conference meet in Birmingham next month.

Tech will be led by a transfer sprinter from the University of the South (Sewanee) named Hunley Elebash, who recently was elected captain of Coach Norris Dean's 1944 thinly clads.

Field events, in which Eddie Prokop, Tech's great football star is expected to be outstanding, will get under way first today with the races scheduled to begin 30 minutes later, at 3 o'clock.

Tech is depending largely on transfer students this season, since most of last year's fine team have left the Flats.

"T" FORMATION

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—Coaches attending Purdue University's annual football clinic next weekend will get a detailed report on the principles of the "T" formation from an expert. Clark Shaughnessy, head grid coach at the University of Pittsburgh and a noted exponent of the "T" formation, has been added to the staff of instructors for the grid clinic. His discussion on the T plays will feature the clinic program's final session April 15.

In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. A. W. Cole, who passed away two years ago today.

Loving and kind in all her ways,
Upright and just to the end of her days,

Beautiful memories she left behind.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of my wife, Mrs. Sara Brown, who passed away two years ago today.

When evening shades are falling
And I am sitting alone,
In my heart there comes a longing
If you could only come home.
Oft and oft my thoughts do wander
To your grave so far away,
Where I laid you, dearest Sara,
Two years ago today.
More and more each day I miss you;
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within my heart concealed.

L. E. (SHORTY) BROWN, Husband.

GEN. EUGENE REYBOLD
Visits Atlanta

Army Visitor Praises Conley

By PAUL WARWICK.

Chief of the fighting engineers of the Army was in town yesterday, looking over local installations and assuring himself that equipment will continue to be available to his men throughout the world in coming months of possible invasion.

Major General Eugene Reybold, chief of engineers, made a whirlwind but intensive tour of the Army Service Forces Depot at Conley yesterday afternoon under official guidance of Lieutenant Colonel Warren K. Ilsley, executive officer of that post. Colonel Ilsley was formal host in the absence of Colonel J. W. G. Stephens, commandant, who was away in the east to attend the graduation of his son from an officers' candidate school.

"STACKS UP WITH BEST."

"One of the finest military depots in the country—and therefore in the whole world," General Reybold exclaimed enthusiastically after he had visited much of the Conley setup. "I've visited all our main depots in America—nine in all—and the one here at Conley stacks up with the best."

Having arrived in Atlanta Thursday night from New Orleans, the officer leaves this morning for Richmond, Va., to continue his official tour.

General Reybold, while declaiming on the disadvantages of remaining cooped up most of his time in official Washington, disclosed that he has been getting around a bit since the war started.

A 30,000-MILE TRIP

One tour he made last fall examining engineers' work in the Pacific netted a log of some 30,000 miles. On this trip he visited Munda, Bougainville and several other outposts which have been in the thick of martial news in recent weeks. He also has traveled extensively in South America and Africa, as well as the British Isles, in a wartime service which he still insists keeps him too much at his desk in Washington.

The general's official party reached Conley shortly after 1 p. m. yesterday and immediately set out on a quick coverage of the huge plant, giving particular attention to the newer elements of construction and warehousing.

Savannah Slayer Loses His Appeal for Pardon

W. B. Aycock, Savannah slayer serving a life sentence in the state penitentiary, was denied a pardon yesterday by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Aycock was convicted of the murder of Martha Sikes August 27, 1938, by a Chatham county jury, and was sentenced to the electric chair. His sentence was commuted to life imprisonment on October 28, 1939, by Governor E. D. Rivers.

Aycock was unsuccessful in attempts to appeal the case on the ground that his wife had admitted murdering Martha Sikes.

Willkie Mum About Dewey

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie returned to New York today, but left unanswered one big question—will he support the presidential choice of the Republican convention now that his own campaign for the nomination is over?

To this question and to another—will he support Governor Thomas E. Dewey in the event he should get the nod—Willkie made no direct answer.

"I made my statement in Omaha," he told newsmen at Grand Central terminal. "It was completely comprehensive and I don't want to add to it."

It was in Omaha where Willkie, commenting on his failure to win a delegate in the Wisconsin primary, announced he was no longer a candidate because "it is obvious that I cannot be nominated."

Willkie said his national headquarters here, which he never saw because they were opened while he was touring Wisconsin, would be closed immediately.

Ralph Cake, Oregon national committeeman and Willkie's campaign manager, met him at the train.

Willkie, appearing outwardly cheerful but tired, went immediately with Mrs. Willkie to their Fifth Avenue apartment. Aides of Willkie said he probably would consider his future course for several days at least before making a statement.

Keep Acquired Bases, Bricker Advises

CHICAGO, April 7.—(AP)—Looking ahead to the postwar era, Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, asserted today the government should encourage private enterprise and should keep war-won bases around the world to aid the nation's defense and trade.

The Ohioan, on his way to the west coast in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, defined his views in speeches before the Union League and Executives' Club.

He also told newsmen he did not believe that Wendell Willkie or any Republican voters would step out of the party because Willkie gave up his bid for the top place on the Republican national ticket.

Parole Chairman Points To Rehabilitation Work

Political and civil rights are being restored to rehabilitated law-breakers who have proved themselves worthy in their parole periods, according to Edward E. Everett, chairman of the Georgia State Board of Pardons and Paroles. Too, if those who have committed felonies in the past, can pass a careful investigation, their political and civil liberties will be restored.

In a talk before the Atlanta Lions club yesterday, Everett explained the working of the system.

"Our records show that out of 1,500 people released into society, 97 per cent have made good. That is what we call making good ones out of bad ones."

Putting a stop to wholesale pardons, the board established the rule that only in cases where applicants have been proved entirely innocent of the crime for which they are imprisoned, will any pardons be granted, he said.

Textile Union President Urges 48-Hour Week

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—With the assertion that cotton textile employers twice have blocked an order for a mandatory 48-hour week in the industry, President Emil Rieve, of the Textile Workers' Union of America today urged the War Manpower Commission to put such an order into effect immediately.

"It is estimated that this year we will produce at least two to four billion yards less fabric than our needs require," he said in a telegram to Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the commission.

"The principal bottleneck is manpower. Substandard wages paid in the industry have caused workers to seek better-paid jobs elsewhere. There are over 50,000 fewer employes in the industry than there were a year ago . . . The 48-hour week may help arrest the downward trend in output."

Arnall Praised By Carolinan

Ellis Arnall is considered one of the outstanding governors of the nation by a tall, gray-haired gentleman from North Carolina, O. Max Gardner, who was governor of his state from 1929 to 1933.

"Arnall is considered an outstanding man today," Gardner said yesterday, "and Georgia's progress in recent months is wonderful. It is almost as good as North Carolina."

Gardner dropped politics, however, for a subject more closely related to his visit in Atlanta.

TO SEE SOLDIER SON

"I'm here for several reasons," he smiled, "to see my son who is at O. C. S. at Fort Benning, and to attend the meeting of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association next week."

Gardner, counsel for the Cotton Textile Institutes, said present and postwar plans of the textile industry in the south would be discussed at the meetings, slated for Tuesday and Wednesday at the Biltmore hotel.

At present, the south is producing about 90 per cent of the uniforms worn by members of the armed forces," Gardner explained, "in addition to those produced for lend-lease."

DIXIE CONVERSION

The postwar change from war production to civilian manufacture will be simpler to handle in the south than in the highly industrialized areas, Gardner said.

"With the exception of a few cases, the south's war production has been devoted to textile manufacture," he explained. "The large industries turning out heavy implements of war will take months to convert to their normal peacetime production. But, in textile mills, the production can be converted within 30 minutes after the war is over.

"The 40-year movement to bring industry to the south has never been held up because there was no southern, skilled labor force available," he continued. "The war has proved that the south can and does produce skilled workers."

Seabees Building Base Despite Toyko Reports

ADVANCE HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, April 4 (Delayed)—(AP)—Thick jungle and coconut plantations of Emirau island in the St. Matthias group are rapidly being converted into an Allied base by Seabee bulldozers and tractors.

Marine Combat Correspondent Murray Marder of Philadelphia has reported today despite Tokyo claims that Japanese troops have landed at three places on the island and are annihilating the Marine garrison there.

"No one Japanese bomb or shell has fallen since the Marines landed March 20, and no enemy troops have so much as been sighted.

Your Horoscope

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—The most important time of the day for taking important action along all lines appears to be after 1:35 p. m. An excellent period for constructive work in matters of finance and personal advancement.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—This is not a day to lay solid foundations for the future. Your judgment will be capricious, premature and unsound. Go slow on your new ideas.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—During the entire day you will have more than usual capacity for work that requires an alert mentality. You can introduce new methods in the things you are attempting and transactions started today will be active and meet unlooked-for developments for good.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER) Before 2:48 p. m., but especially between 8:48 a. m. and 2:48 p. m. you can be as active as you desire, for you will not only encounter people with engaging personalities, but you will be filled with high aspirations that have a substantial basis.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO). The influences predominating today bring an optimism and hopeful frame of mind, making this a favorable day for attending to affairs that call for aggressiveness, initiative and muscular energy.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO). You will feel that you would prefer to sit down and brood over affairs, or you may be inclined to notice slights that are not intended through the entire day. Therefore unless you make a decided effort to appreciate the other fellow's side of any question this will not be a successful day.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA). Before 7:18 a. m. you can follow your "hunches," or you should listen to an intuitive feeling within yourself as to what to do. Your inspirations at this time can be worked out on a conservative basis.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO). You are likely to have a feeling of morbidness or confusion, so you should be careful to express yourself to avoid misunderstandings. This is not an auspicious day for new and important undertakings.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—The entire day and until 6:30 p. m. favors ordinary and routine matters. This is especially true in connection with communications, correspondence and conferences. After 7:30 p. m. favors social and entertainment fields.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN) An excellent day to stick to routine. Previous to 8:48 a. m. and after 8 p. m. do not allow yourself to be coaxed into things that are against your better judgment.

Jan. 20-Feb. 18 (AQUARIUS) It might be well to give business and social associates every consideration before 5:12 p. m. for you are apt to encounter a let-down feeling, or meet with a coolness, which may retard matters.

Feb. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—While new beginnings may have a tendency to run into obstacles if started before 12:28 p. m., old, practical ideas may be pushed forward to advantage. Before 6:04 p. m. favors matters pertaining to land and property.

Red Cross War Fund 20 Million Short of Goal

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The Red Cross War Fund is nearly $20,000,000 short of its minimum goal of $200,000,000, Leon Fraser, national chairman of the fund campaign, announced today.

"We have asked chapters which haven't raised their quotas to redouble their efforts to finish without delay," Fraser said. "A little more than 60 per cent of our chapters already have reached or exceeded their goal."

Vets Will Get Summary On Job Opportunities

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt announced today that the U. S. Employment Service will prepare for discharged servicemen a summary of job opportunities in all industrial centers with population over 100,000, and the principal city of each state regardless of size.

The summary, entitled Labor Market Information for Veterans, will be revised every two months, and will indicate the expected labor demand for six months in advance. It will be available at all offices of the Employment Service.

AUTO PIONEER DIES

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Inglis Moore Uppercu, 66, pioneer in the automobile and aviation fields, died today after an illness of three years. Uppercu established what was believed to be the first commercial air line, Aero Marine Airways, in 1918, and he was credited with being the first to deliver mail by plane to ships at sea.
